FEEDING FELINE FRIENDS—Mrs. Sally Meier feeds some of her 61 cats at the Daly City garage where her body was found Monday by a friend and police. (Post Photo)

Daly City Woman, 51 Cats Found Dead in Garage

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The body of Colleen Vivian "Sally" Meier was found Monday kneeling in the midst of the cats she loved inside an unheated garage at 6069 Mission St. in Daly City.

The "Cat Lady of Daly City" and 51 of her feline friends had been dead, apparently from asphyxiation, for about six days, police said.

Only 10 cats survived.

Mrs. Meier had been ordered to move her cats out of Daly City, or find homes for them among friends, by Municipal Judge Charles Becker following a jury trial in South San Francisco last December.

Judge Becker twice continued imposing any fine or sentence on the woman in order to give her more time to comply with the order.

A note left by the victim said suicide seemed the only thing to do. She did not want to part with her beloved cats.

There were several notes – to friends and her attorney – at the scene of the deaths, police said.

Inside the garage, which Mrs. Meier had partitioned off with chicken wire for her cats, was the woman's old station wagon, its gas tank empty, ignition turned on and battery dead.

In a note dated Feb. 12, to her psychiatrist, Mrs. Meier indicated she was writing the letter 35 minutes after having started the car and while the deadly carbon monoxide fumes filled the garage where she had been living in recent weeks with her cats.

In late December Mrs. Meier had reportedly told friends she might die with her cats, rather than part with them.

Mrs. Meier was accustomed to calling her friend, Mrs. Jean Bullis, every day, police said.

When she had not called for several days, Mrs. Bullis asked police to investigate.

Police Sgt. Tom Reese and Officer James McHenry went to the address and peered in a rear window about 5 p.m.

It was a grisly scene all, Reese said. "There were dead cats all over the place."

The Fire Department was called and the doors were forced open.

Inside, dead and dying cats were everywhere, Reese said.

Mrs. Meier's body was in a kneeling position on a mattress near the center of the room, her head touching the floor.

Crippled somewhat by an arthritic and pelvic condition, Mrs. Meier took to collecting stray cats several years ago when she reportedly found a box in Golden Gate Park with a litter of discarded kittens inside.

With her $200 monthly disability pension, she tried to feed herself and her cats, but often ended up being able only to feed the cats, friends said.

She brushed with the city ordinances of San Francisco and was forced to move, after telling a judge in that city she had found quarters elsewhere – in Daly City.

She and her feline friends were brought to the attention of Daly City City Attorney Albert Polonsky when neighbors complained of the odor coming from the garage.

Polonsky told The Post he had not pursued the matter in recent weeks "because

Bus System Plan Lauded

'Thank God' for Energy Crisis

"Thank God we have a shortage of energy," senior citizen Celia Greeson told the Daly City Council during its regular public meeting Feb. 11.

Without this energy crisis the need for a city-county-wide bus transportation system would probably not have been emphasized for some time, Mrs. Greeson said.

The speaker is among the city's increasing population of elderly residents – citizens who depend on public transportation to get around safetly and cheaply.

These senior citizens do not drive cars, for the most part, and cannot afford to ride around in taxis. They ride buses to and from shopping areas, medical facilities and to visit friends.

Visiting friends is of paramount importance to a senior citizen, Mrs. Greeson explained.

"Loneliness is the worst enemy of the senior citizen," she said.

Mrs. Greeson praised the City Councilmen for starting action to insure Daly City has an adequate up-to-date transportation system, but asked the city to study ways and means of having various bus companies operating in the North County to get together on scheduling of routes and fare transfers.

There are times when buses pull away from a stop just as another bus is pulling in, causing riders to miss the bus going to their destination, it was explained.

When this happens, Mrs. Greeson said, a rider must wait at least 30 minutes for another bus to come along.

Fares inside Daly City are also out of line with those charged by neighboring San Francisco, she said.

In San Francisco a senior citizen can ride anywhere for five cents. However, there are times when a rider – old or young – must pay two fares in Daly City.

Mrs. Greeson, at the request of Councilman McRobert "Mac" Stewart, traced two separate routes she had to ride in order to reach her destination. She had to pay double fare – 50 cents.

The urging of the Daly City Senior Citizens group for a better local transit system came shortly before councilman Victor Kyriakis, representing the entire council body as its transportation chairman, bared a report on the matter.

Kyriakis said he and the city staff had held several meetings with private transportation company officials – including Servi-Car, Inc., and Kenny Transportation – to study the feasibility of immediately implementing a citywide bus system.

Whatever system is finally selected, it will have to be compatible with any system the county selects – if voters approve formation of a mass transit district either in June or November, it was explained.

The city feels it should move now for a bus system rather than gamble with whether voters will approve such a district, Kyriakis said.

Candidates Forum Set For Tonight

The South San Francisco Valley Community Club will sponsor a Candidates Night tonight.

The four candidates, Patrick Ahern, Richard Battaglia, William Borba and Leo Padreddi have agreed to participate. The "Candidates Night" will replace the regular meeting of the Valley Community Club and will begin at 8 p.m. in the Hillside Recreation Center.

The Valley Community Club President, Jim Schwirian, announced the "Candidates Night" will be moderated by Mrs. Troy Daniels of the League of Women Voters of North San Mateo County with the League of Women Voters procedures in effect.

The public is invited to attend.

TEN YEARS AGO, Broadmoor police officer Charles Manning was killed by a burglar. Sunday, his family, friends and county dignitaries dedicated a plaque in his honor at the Broadmoor Community Center at Eighty-seventh and Washington Streets, Manning's widow, Lillian (right), and his daughter, Lisa (second from left), unveiled the plaque, which was made by William S. Thomas, a Westmoor High School student (left). Also pictured are Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage and Peter McMillan, (kneeling) president of the Broadmoor Property Owners Association, which sponsored the event. Young Thomas received a Broadmoor special achievement medallion for his work on the plaque. (George Brooke Photo)

Shooting Victim Improves

A Daly City grocery store owner was in satisfactory condition today at Mary's Help Hospital after being shot in the chest during a daylight robbery of his small neighborhood store Feb. 11.

Victor Misrahi, 55, was gunned down by an armed robber about 12:30 p.m. inside his Evergreen Market – a small "mama and papa" type outlet at the corner of Evergreen and Hanover Streets.

The robber fled the scene in a waiting car with less than $150, police said.

According to the victim's 19-year-old son, Ray, the robber had his gun aimed at Misrahi when the son happened into the store.

As the robber glanced to see who had come into the store, the older Misrahi grabbed for the gun and the suspect fired.

The slug that hit Misrahi was slug to have come from a 9mm or .32 caliber weapon, police said.

A witness saw the robber flee the store shortly after the shooting and drive away in a black over rust colored Valiant.

The driver of the getaway car and the robber are described as black male adults in their early twenties, wearing floppy red knit hats.

Misrahi is a tall, thin man over six feet in thin and known for his feisty nature.

Two years ago, a feisty attempted to rob him and he pulled out a gun and chased the suspect into San Francisco.

The man was later captured.

Crime Unit Formed To Battle Burglaries

By FRANK LA PIERRE

There is a new crimebusters' organization working in North San Mateo County made up of specially-trained policemen from San Bruno, Daly City, South San Francisco and Pacifica.

The unit is charged with analyzing and assessing burglary problems in the four communities they represent, and finding ways and means of dealing with the problem in a cooperative effort.

Burglaries are on the increase throughout the county, crime experts hope the new Crime Prevention Bureau will curb this trend.

Detectives William Wright (SSF), Eric Jorgensen (Pacifica), Steve Lowe (Daly City) and Steve Cottini (San Bruno) are the first of their kind in the area.

"We've got a lot riding on this experiment," detective Wright said. "Hopefully, we can show our chiefs there is justification for this unit."

The unit functions under two categories: burglary intelligence and community awareness.

They have been charged with gathering from every available source — official records and "tips" from residents — data concerning a crime.

Once done, this information can be analyzed and a criminal's method of operation (M.O.) deciphered, Lowe said.

As an example; if a burglar is "working a neighborhood," or specializes in stealing certain objects, the crime unit may be able to pinpoint his next victim and have patrol cars saturate it.

Perhaps someday the information gathered can be fed into a computer bank and with a push of a button police will have a definite pattern, and, shortly thereafter, a suspect in custody.

But right now all the unit has is a small office in the Daly City Police Station at 90th and Sullivan Avenues, three desks crowded into a room, and a secretary to help out on the myriad reports necessary for such an ambitious project.

Although conditions are crowded and the task ahead appears to be insurmountable, the four detectives, all volunteers, are going about their business with enthusiasm.

Each and every report coming in from their respective cities is written on a form. The forms are compiled daily and an investigation gets underway.

Arrests of burglars since the unit was formed attests to its effectiveness, officers say.

However, those on the job claim "it's still too early to tell exactly what inroads we've made, if any, in cutting down on these crimes."

In between dealing with the intelligence gathering end of the workload, the four

Pacifica Man Held After Car Crash

A Pacifica man was arrested early Saturday morning and charged with suspicion of felony drunken driving and felony hit and run, Pacifica police report.

Booked at San Mateo County Jail was Gary Alan Hail, 22, of 1019 Big Bend Drive.

Police gave the following details:

At 2:10 a.m. today Andre Alfred of Pacifica was driving south on the Coast Highway with his wife Carol. He had stopped for a red light at the Rockaway Beach Boulevard intersection when he noticed a car coming up behind him at a high rate of speed.

The car, a 1971 Chevrolet, crashed into the rear of Alfred's vehicle, backed up and drove away, police said. Police were summoned to the scene, and after getting a description of the vehicle checked the area.

Officer Gerry Grochowski spotted the car matching the description given by witnesses traveling north on the Coast Highway. He signaled for the driver to stop. Hail offered no resistance when arrested, police said.

Police stated the Alfred's sustained only minor injuries in the accident.

Recall Petition At JESD

A movement is underway in Daly City's Jefferson Elementary School District to abolish the three member personnel commission, The Times has learned.

A petition for recall of the commission, charged with setting the rules for the hiring and firing of the dissetting the rules for the hiremployees, is now being prepared for circulation among registered voters.

The petition needs some 460 valid voter names in order to qualify it for the June ballot. This is 10 per cent of the number of those persons voting in the last school district election in April 1973.

The personnel commission was established in 1968 by an act of the district's classified employees, however, it requires a vote of the citizens to abolish the commission.

Making up the membership of the Commission, in addition to secretarial and administrative staff, are Mrs. Jeanne Kennaugh, Albert Modena and Jack Jones.

Mrs. Kennaugh is an appointment of the State Personnel Commission.

The reasons for wanting the commission dissolved were not made public.

The power of the commission is to prescribe and amend rules for hiring and firing of employees, among other actions, under sections 13713 and 13714 of the State Education Code.

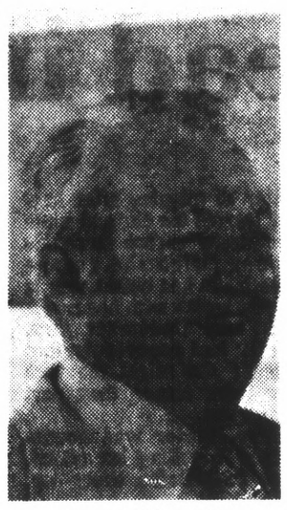
6 Seek 3 Seats in Daly City

Rev. Raymond Howard

Lawrence Murray



Bernard Lycett

Victor Kvriakis

Bill Schumacher

Six candidates are seeking three seats on the Daly City Council at the March 5 municipal election. The Times has provided this space as a forum for the candidates.

Councilman McRobert Stewart did not submit a picture for publication with his statement.

Reverend Raymond M. Howard, 52, is a 15-year resident of Daly City. He is married and the father of six children.

Rev. Howard is a member of the Butchers Union, the Baptist Ministers' Conference, the Inter-denominational Ministers' Alliance, the National Baptist Convention U.S.A. Inc., and several other religious organizations.

His statement:

"I am candidate for the office of city councilman because I can bring to the city the kind of government that will be a benefit to all the people of Daly City.

"There are certain sections of the city that have been neglected by the present administration. I feel that a city government should protect all citizens of the city and their property rights.

"If I am elected I shall fight for those rights. My outline policies are as follows:

"I favor self-determination for neighborhoods on the question of redevelopment.

"I favor civic beautification being extended to all sections of the city, which includes the original Daly City and Bayshore. All of the residents of the city should enjoy these benefits.

"I favor the extension of the BART system by federal financial assistance; and such method would lessen the probability of increasing city taxes.

"I favor the election of councilmen by districts and I favor the persons who are elected to represent a district must be a resident of the district that they represent.

"Our city has grown so large and is continuing to grow. Therefore, I favor giving the citizens the right by vote on separate ballot to make their choice on who shall serve as their mayor. I favor a full-time mayor separate from the council.

"I favor establishing a rent control in Daly City.

"I do not favor increasing the tax rate on the ratio of increased population.

"These are some of the plans that I will attempt to establish as a part of our city's goals if I am elected."

Victor G. Kyriakis, 38, is a practicing attorney who has resided in Daly City 12 years. He is married and the father of a daughter. He is seeking election to a full term on the council.

Kyriakis is a member of the San Mateo County and the North San Mateo County Bar Associations, the Commonwealth Club of California, the Westlake Improvement Association and the Hellenic American Professional Society. He has been a city planning commissioner.

His statement:

"I have been active in Daly City government since 1971, first as a planning commissioner and presently as councilman and mayor pro-tempore.

"As such, I have been able to actively participate in matters that have profoundly affected the continued orderly growth of the city. I am a practicing attorney with offices in Daly City and have been a homeowner there for the past 12 years. Because of my official, personal and professional affiliations in Daly City I feel I am best qualified to cope with problems facing today's taxpayers.

"My education includes a degree in political science from Stanford University (1957); University of California and Hastings College of Law (1963) where I received a jurisprudent doctorate.

"My experiences in meeting and conferring with government representatives on a regional basis, coupled with my knowledge of law, greatly assists me in offering citizens of Daly City honest and responsive representation. Additionally, I am a member of several professional and civic groups.

"Through these contacts I am able to further contribute to the betterment of our citizens by using this knowledge to help solve problems that today face Daly City, a community on the threshhold of even greater growth."

Bernard J. "Bud" Lycett, 58, is a real estate broker seeking his third term on the city council. He is married and the father of two grown children.

Lycett is chairman of the North San Mateo County Sanitation Board, on the executive board of the Regional Planning Commission and treasurer of the San Mateo County Convention and Visitors Bureau.

His statement:

"For the past ten years I have been a member of the Daly City council, serving as mayor for seven consecutive years. My membership on various regional agencies, including chairman of the board of directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District; North San Mateo County Council of Cities; Bay Area Sewage Service Agency (BASSA); president of the League of California Cities (Peninsula Division) and past president, Regional Parks Committee, have made it possible for me to better serve the people of this community by being able to observe and take an active role in the continued orderly development of Daly City.

"Coupled with this experience is my added knowledge of those problems associated with being a businessman and homeowner in the community. For some 29 years I have been a Daly City businessman and feel I have a better than casual knowledge of problems facing residents and other businessmen and how best to solve these problems.

"My membership in various, local, county, regional and state organizations is a further contribution to the knowledge required to better face future problems our city may encounter."

Lawrence "Larry" Murray, 22, is a law student seeking his first elective post. He is a life-long resident of Daly City and a graduate of San Francisco State University.

Murray is president of the Daly City local of the American Postal Workers Union.

His statement:

It's been a long time coming but it's here, now finally. With the recent political developments, not only in our nation's capital but in many other seats of government, America has awakened to find it's time to clear the air, to clean up politics and to once again make every city hall respectable.

"Yes, it's been done in the past, it will be done in the future and it will be done now. The time for change is upon us. The time for planning a future is here. The time to place genuine interest in government is now. This is why I stand before you.

"America as a nation and we as a community have never been afraid to roll up our sleeves and dig into the toughest of chores. And now that chore is before us. We must make government work. And we can. With a fresh, new, clean approach to politics, we can get the ball rolling again. The way I see it, it's time for a change.

"And it's no accident that I stand before you asking you for your vote. There's a job to be done and I want to do it. I can do the best job of any running! Why? Because I owe no political favors. I've never been a public official before. Therefore, I have no alliances, no debts to pay and no one I'm committed to.

"I could go to city hall tomorrow and walk right in without thanking someone for my place in the city council. This campaign has not been financed or carried out by any political cronies or job seekers. I'm free of political graft, payoffs or corruption and have every intention of continuing that way. Therefore, I've financed my own campaign entirely and have refused contributions from anyone. When I serve on the city council, the only allgeiance I will have is to the voters and the citizens of Daly City."

William J. Schumacher, 36, 16 St. James Court, is an attorney and instructor at College of San Mateo. He has been active with the USF Law School executive committee and county Democratic Central Committee and has been a Daly City police officer, deputy district attorney, assistant Daly City city attorney, small claims court judge and trustee and board chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Schumacher and wife Anne have two sons and a daughter.

His statement:

"As an independent candidate I am challenging the incumbents on their record of inadequate performance in office. The present city council's approach to the problems facing Daly City is simply to ignore them until just before a city council election.

"For example, in December 1973, after 18 months of unnecessary chaos, the incumbents finally shelved their residential redevelopment scheme. This month the council scheduled its first hearing on the deficiencies of cable television. These deficiencies have existed for the past two years. Also this month the incumbents are just beginning to talk about our transportation problems. Proposals for solutions to this problem are long overdue. Why must the community wait for election time before their problems are given any attention by the council? The BART parking mess was anticipated as early as 1968 but the council's "do nothing approach" has resulted in today's conditions.

"As your city councilman, I would energetically attack our problems before they become major and involve the community in decision-making processes before action is taken. I would seek expansion of youth recreational programs and establish an effective juvenile bureau in the Police Department.

"As a 15-year resident of Daly City, a practicing lawyer in the community for the past six years, a former deputy district attorney and with seven years experience as a Daly City police officer and sergeant, I have come to know and understand our city. I have a sincere desire to make Daly City a better place to live and raise a family and ask the support of all citizens who want to see positive steps taken to resolve the problems facing us."

McRobert L. Stewart, 47, is a lumberman running for his second term on the council.

Stewart resides at 440 Southgate Ave. with his family and has been active with the National Council on Alcoholism, the Greater San Mateo County Transportation Committee and the Daly City Host Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and Mission Merchants. He also is a member of the county Local Agency Formation Commission.

His statement:

"I have been active in government affairs at the local, county, regional and state levels for the past decade. Living and working in Daly City for some 24 years I have become well aware of the problems faced by residents of this community.

"Because of my service on various official bodies and my affiliations with civic and fraternal organizations, I feel I can best represent all the citizens at every level of government. For eight years I was a member of the city's planning commission, two as its chairman. Presently I am one of five commissioners on LAFCO, the agency responsible for the continued orderly development of San Mateo County.

"Further, I am chairman of the Community Resources Commission, dealing with rehabilitation of youthful offenders at the Glenwood Boys' Ranch under the jurisdiction of the county Probation Department.

"At the state level, Governor Reagan appointed me to the state Board of Registration for Professional Engineers, Dept. of Consumer Affairs.

"I am fully aware of the myriad problems facing Daly City, problems including parking, transit and commercial redevelopment and feel I can continue to offer sensible, fiscally responsible solutions to them."

'Cat Lady'

I understood she was down to two cats."

Daly City city ordinances stipulate a maximum of two cats per household.

The deadline for meeting the court order had been Jan. 25, Polonsky said.

"Some people in the courtroom during the trial offered to take care of the cats," Polonsky said. "Representatives of the (San Mateo County) Humane Society also offered aid."

Real Watergate Battle to Start

Watergate, Phase One, is about over, and the real battle is soon to begin. Before too many weeks pass the question of impeachment will be brought into new and sharp focus.

Phase One included wide ranging investigation and discovery procedures. The Senate Watergate Committee, several grand juries, two special prosecutors, and an inquisitive, and at times inquisitorial press all took part.

As to some of the lesser figures, Phase One was decisive. But for the President, the widespread activity, if irritating, could not be considered determinative. In fact, in the midst of serious investigative work, a kind of bogus war went on, presenting spurious issues as real. If the coming of Phase Two is any cause for thanks, it is that some of the grosser foolishness of Phase One is at an end, including some claims that had little or no real foundation. The President's health was in issue from the beginning of Watergate until the night of his State of the Union speech. At that time, before the eyes of the world he appeared quite well, thank you. Issue closed, for a time at least.

Then there was the long wailing cry that because of Watergate the President would be unable to govern. Months wore on, with the front pages showing the President visibly in charge of the executive branch — issuing orders, signing documents affecting millions of people and billions of dollars, and even, on occasion leading, as he did in the initial stages of the oil crisis. At the same time, the sayers of gloom insisted upon the overstatement that he was unable to govern, even though a most cursory glance at the news belied the charge.

This attack, of course, was a part of a broader effort — the suggestion (demand?) that the President resign. Those advocating this action understood neither Richard Nixon, nor the nature of our constitutional government. A man less likely to resign is hard to imagine, and a nation less suited to endure the effects of forced resignation could not be conceived. For the President to have resigned because of press demands, or low poll ratings would have given a new and dangerous dimension to our democracy. Future demands and future polls might then topple other presidents.

Neither the volatile nature of our people, nor our unique form of government could easily accommodate to such a practice. The precedent would have given our hypercritical tendencies and iconoclasts too great an opportunity, and risked far too much.

So saved from the ultimate risks of Phase One, we now enter Phase Two. Unlike bad polls and rampant media, the founders of our Republic understood the possible need of impeachment, and anticipated the practice in the Constitution. Thus, while we might not survive the precedent of ad hoc resignation, we can endure, if necessary, the unsettling effects of impeachment proceedings.

The initial stages of the impeachment process are, most certainly under way. The House Judiciary Committee is now gathering facts, and considering the form of a bill of impeachment. It is this document that will soon be central to the news, and preempt all other broodings and forebodings. For the Committee, with assistance of counsel John Doar, will eventually draw up a set of charges. These will sharply define impeachment proceedings and future discourse.

We can already surmise something of their form. The purely political allegations, e.g. Cambodian bombing, and impounding of funds will be avoided. Chances are that the instrument will be almost pedantically legalistic, containing perhaps as many as a dozen particulars, and phrased in the manner of an indictment. The charges may, of course, be based upon inference or innuendo (e.g. that certain tapes in the general custodial care of the President were multilated or destroyed).

Once typewriter and paper have joined to form a preliminary draft, the instrument, even in rough form, will be the hottest bit of prose on earth. It will be considered and debated within the Judiciary Committee, and if there approved will be acted upon by the entire House of Representatives. If any of the charges are sustained it will form the basis for trial before the Senate.

Although most of the facts are already known by the public, reduction of charges to writing will bring shock, and will probably change the nature of the presidential defense. Confronted with specifics, the President's lawyers will have to play a different game. For up to now, they have had nothing to lose but public confidence and points in popularity polls. Once the draft Bill of Impeachment is disclosed the stakes will be higher, and this will probably force a more cogent and direct defense. General protestations of innocence will doubtless be supplemented with hard facts.

In this manner, the questions of presidential responsibility for Watergate will be brought to rest, one way or another. No matter what the outcome, the constitutional procedure is far superior to removal by fiat of the media.

Park Panel Recommendation

Construction Nixed on Sanchez Site

The grounds of the Sanchez Adobe County Historical Site in Pacifica should no longer be considered as a possible site for a county branch library, according to the County Parks and Recreation Commission.

In view of the discovery last month of remnants of a foundation for a structure which housed an outpost of Mission Dolores dating from the late 1700's, the commission voted Wednesday to recommend to County Mgr. M. D. Tarshes that the site should be removed from the list of possible locations for a permanent branch of the county library in Pacifica.

County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr. requested the action, noting that archeologists who have been excavating the site have urged that no development whatsoever be undertaken in the open field or patio area of Sanchez Adobe.

"It is my recommendation . . . that in view of the new and significant archeological discoveries . . . we recommend to the county manager that the grounds of the Sanchez Adobe be removed from the list of sites now being considered for the Pacifica library," Brook said in his report to the commission.

The commission also approved Brook's recommendation that the Board of Supervisors consider the recommendation of Steven Dietz, principal archeologist from San Francisco State University's anthropology museum, that the county fund a second-phase archeological investigation and excavations to the tune of $25,000, and that the Sanchez Adobe be developed into an archeological interpretive center.

Brook said the latter would include on-going archeological excavations and "re-orientation" of the existing facilities to accommodate the archeological, historical and interpretive program, development of an eopen-air museum, establishment of an ducational program in conjunction with local schools, and reconstruction of a portion of the mission outpost.

The parks and recreation director urged that his staff also be delegated to investigate the development of a master plan and program for Sanchez Adobe "that would recognize the unique historical values of this site."

This also was approved by the commission.

In another matter, Brook reported to the commission that he will go to the Board of Supervisors by March 19 with a recommendation for the appointment of a consultant to prepare a master plan and environmental impact report for the development of the proposed park and recreation area on San Bruno Mountain.

Also, the commission voted to accept an inscribed boulder which will be placed at the Discovery Site on Sweeney Ridge from which Gaspar de Portola first viewed San Francisco Bay.

Students Attend Music Clinic

Students from San Bruno and Pacifica high schools attended the 24th annual Pacific Music Clinic at University of the Pacific Feb. 2.

Participating were band students under the direction of M. Mason and orchestral and choral students under the direction of Robert Meadows all from Crestmoor High School, San Bruno.

Band and orchestral students under the direction of Robert L. Shedd from Oceana High School, Pacifica, and band and choral students under the direction of John Bentley from Terra Nova High School, Pacifica, attended.

The clinic, attended by approximately 2,700 high school students from throughout California, is sponsored each winter by the UOP Conservatory of Music as an intensive program of rehearsals and performances under the direction of nationally-known choral orchestral and band conductors.

Guest conductors this year were Randall Spicer, director of bands at Washington State University; Paul Salamunovich, director of choral music at Loyola University and Mount St. Mary's College, and Vilem Sokol, conductor and music director of the Seattle Youth Symphony Orchestra, and professor of music at the University of Washington..

UOP was founded in 1851 as the first chartered institution of higher education in California. The Conservatory of Music was established in 1876 as the first professional school of the university.

Pianist to Perform at Periwinkle

Pianist Charles Davis will perform at Periwinkle Art Gallery Pacifica Feb. 24 at 2 p.m. This is the second in the current "Music At The Gallery" series.

Davis studied piano in Southern California under Lee Pattison, at the University of Southern California under Muriel Kerr and at the Juilliard School of Music with Mme. Olga Samaroff.

Before moving to the Bay Area, Davis taught at Central Washington State College. He presently teaches at Diablo Valley College. In addition to teaching, Davis performs in recitals, chamber music, as an accompanist and piano soloist with orchestras.

"Music At The Gallery" is co-sponsored by Periwinkle Gallery and Sheldon Smith, piano technician. Concerts are informal, and refreshments are served. A donation of $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12 is requested.

For further information call the gallery at 359-5230 between 12 and 6 p.m.

Pacifica Debates Proposed Fee Increase

A proposal to increase 15 different city fees — some of them so obscure that they have been largely ignored — suddenly became a hot potato at the Feb. 11 Pacifica City acouncil session.

The council — after hearing nearly the entire audience voice its protest — tossed the matter into the laps of the next City Council. It postponed a decision on the proposal for 60 days. Only one person there Monday night was certain of remaining on the council after the March 5 election.

Tom Sawyer, Pacifica Chamber of Commerce manager proposed the 60-day delay, complaining that some fees would be going up by as much as 1000 per cent.

He indignantly charged that, under current city laws, the proposed fees would result in a man wanting to open a business in a store that had previously had another kind of business, paying $200 for a use permit and site development plan — before even buying the business license.

However, the proposed changes drew the most fire from two young Vallemar housewives.

Kathleen McGuire, 215 Berendos Ave., zeroed in on four proposed increases:

—Garage sales — It is unreasonable to charge $15 for such sales, since they are not held by big businessmen but just by residents who wish to recycle their old possessions.

—Home pigeons — As an owner of such pigeons, she said the fee being asked for them is exhorbitant."

—Small animals — "I cannot see $15 for a chameleon, a frog, or a rabbit. It is ridiculous to take children's pets and put a $15 price-tag on them."

—Appeals — "I would have no way to get $50 for an appeal. I would oppose even charging $5. Once a price is set, it could be raised."

Marilyn Peters said with the cost of dog licenses and other canine expenses, she would not pay $15 to keep three or more animals.

"You'd have to turn me in — and I'd fight it!"

Emory Lebonville, who heads the Sharp Park Improvement Council, asked why the sewer connection fee was not being increased.

A protest on a different scale was sounded by Charles Trifilletti, of Challenge Developments. Increase drainage facilities fees would have increased a $300,000 fee his firm was charged on one development to $700,000, he said.

"That sum would handle all the drainage problems in Pacifica," said Trifilletti.

Mayor Aubrey Lumley said it appeared the intent of the council to eliminate the appeals fee. Protesting that action, however, was restauranteur Nick Gust.

He said Mrs. McGuire was concerned over having to spend $50 for an appeal but "not caring about the thousands of dollars that her appeal is costing the developer."

Ethel Marks of Juanita Drive proposed just charging the cost of services. Councilman Harland Minshew wondered, however, what such services do cost the city, and how they are determined.

Councilman Stan Fraber asked that such information be sent to the candidates too, so that when the new councilmen take over, they will be prepared.

The council voted unanimously—with Grace McCarthy absent — to consider the matter again at the first meeting of April. They also agreed to consider Gust's request for a study session first.

City Manager Dave Thompson explained that many of these fees date back to 1962, and have not been raised.

Becausjle the legislature does not allow the city to increase taxes, although costs are higher, the city must gejlt its money from user fees, Thompson said.

The city would have received $40,000 extra this year had these higher fees been in effect, he said.

Pacifica Summer Schools
Two Cut From Program

The Laguna Salada School District Board adopted a radically different summer school program at its Thursday night meeting.

Instead of th customary use of two schools, summer school will be held at 10 school sites. The district has 15 schools.

Summer School Principal James O'Connor told the school board that it was the current energy crisis that caused the new move.

Having 10 schools will enable every student to walk to a school, instead of having to depend on transportation. Although the program will initially be planned for the usual 1,400 students who enroll, he expected there might be many more summer school students this year, since many families — hit by gasoline shortages — are expected to stay close to home.

In answer to trustees' questions, O'Connor said he did not expect this plan to be markedly costlier, since the number of classrooms would not necessarily be grater, unless the number of students increase. Just a few classrooms per school would be used. However, each school must have at least 120 students signed up or it will be taken out of the summer school program.

Supt. James Brien admitted that many children would have to cross streets that during the normal school year are considered too dangerous. However, he pointed out that summer school is not compulsory — and it would be the responsibility of the parents to get their children to school.

In some schools, he conceded, it may be necessary for the teachers to "sell" the program to students.

Each school site would have a head teacher, who would be paid 10 per cent extra. No field trips would be provided in the summer program.

The five-week program would run June 24 to July 26, 8:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. School sites used would include: Pacific Heights, Westview, Fairmont, Sharp Park, Vallemar, Cabrillo, Linda Mar, Oddstad and Crespi.

Pacifica Gets MTC Grant

The grant committee of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission has recommended approval of Pacifica's request for $217,000, Mayor Aubrey Lumley announced at Thursday's Chamber of Commerce meeting.

The money will be used to buy six buses. Should the county get voter approval of its transit plan, then it would take over Pacifica's buses. It is hoped, however, that in such an event, according to City Mgr. David Thompson, that the county transit district would be obliged to maintain at least the level of service that Pacifica will have established.

The city currently subsidizes operation of the two-bus "Little Red Bus" transit system, which currently serves the city. The contract with the private system expires this June.

The grant committee acted Wednesday after listening to pleas of a Pacifica delegation composed of Lumley, Thompson, Asst. City Engr. Tom Nance and City Traffic Engr. Kevin Roberts.

The money previously had been set aside for Pacifica to use for matching a larger federal grant. However, the grant was withdrawn, so Pacifica had to re-apply for a scaled-down version of its original plan.

Hickory Farms OF OHIO presents:
BELLE FLEUR & BUTTER KAESE
Two Great Tasting Cheeses!
Being made from part skim milk, both these delicious cheeses are popular with calorie counters. BELLE FLEUR is a natural, semi-soft French type with a robust flavor. It was originally served as a dessert cheese, but is now being used for all kinds of cooking and snacking. BUTTER KAESE, also a natural, semi-soft cheese, has a more mellow flavor. For a long time, it was a basic part of the typical Northern European meal. Today, it is also a popular all-around cheese. Both cheeses can be best appreciated when served at room temperature. Report on Classroom Overcrowding

Laguna District Is Not Always Last

"Thank goodness we're not last in something!"

That was the reaction of one board member Thursday night when Laguna Salada School Supt. James Brien reported that the district is 681st out of 688 elementary districts in the state in overcrowded classes.

As a result of a "loading formula" of 33 students per teacher, Brien reported, the Laguna Salada School District has 27 classes of over 35 pupils. There are five classes of over 40, topped by a 44-pupil intermediate class in languages at Oddstad School.

Under questioning by Wilbur Frye and other trustees, Brien explained that it was necessary to have such large classes for the "middle ability students" in order to get smaller student-teacher ratio for remedial and rapid learner classes. Two remedial classes at Oddstad have 26 pupils apiece while an enrichment class has 27 pupils.

He agreed that the middle student classes should be reduced, but argued that only a lowering of the overall 33 to one ratio could enable him to improve the situation. Kindergarten to third grade classes have a 30 to one ratio, with a 33-pupil maximum in kindergarten and 32-pupil maximum in grades one to three.

An ad hoc committee of parents and school representatives have been meeting on the problem, the superintendent reported. Some members have urged keeping the ratio 25 to one at all levels, while others have urged hiring teacher aides. The committee states its first priority at lowering class sizes in grades 4-6 at 30, and its second priority at lowering class size in grades 7-8 at 30 or grades 1-3 at 27.

Although the district is losing students, and now has empty classrooms, the present state law has forced the district to reduce its teaching force, but permits a slight improvement each year.

Brien reported that a new bill, AB 1694, which passed the Assembly and is now in the Senate, would provide district ratios of 29 in kindergarten and 27 in grades 1-3. At first, it appeared as if local taxpayers would have to pay for the new ratios, but $32 million has been added to the bill in state funding. However, Brien was not too hopeful of the bill passing, unless it received massive support.

Meanwhile, the trustees considered a report from another ad hoc parent committee, concerning a related problem — class space. Major problem appears to be space for Oddstad School, which is greatly overcrowded because of new homes in the attendance area while other schools are losing enrollment.

An all-year school was considered for Oddstad, with one-quarter of the pupils on vacation at any one time. Trading classrooms and other constant changes needed, however, made the plan too complex, it was explained.

Gripes About Cuisine Aired at Senior Center

By JACK BIK

A meeting of South San Francisco residents called Wednesday to consider accusations that poor food was being served at the Rotary Plaza senior housing complex resulted in more bouquets than barbs.

Dick Haley, representing the management firm that operates the 181-apartment complex for HUD, held the meeting at the request of the residents.

Although the residents all have complete kitchens in their apartments, they are required to pay $36 a month — $1.65 a meal — for dinner served in the cafeteria, so as to ensure their having a balanced diet. The complex was opened three years ago, and the cafeteria was opened a few months later.

Haley cited as a major problem the decision of the board of directors to hold the line on the $36 a month charge, in spite of a 20 to 25 per cent increase in costs of food and labor. He asked those at the meeting who would be willing to pay $4 a month more, in order to receive bigger servings and more variety, to raise their hands. A little less than half of those present did so.

Some of the intial accusations made by the residents were:

— The cook had been told to prepare 90 portions for 180 meals.

— Portions of meat were three ounces instead of the "legal" six ounces.

— Residents were hurried in eating their meals by impatient waitresses.

— Those dining at 6 p.m. receive less food than those dining at 5 p.m..

— There was inadequate choice in desserts — lack of fruit, for instance.

— There were no alternates to entrees disagreeable to some persons.

"HARRY THE COOK" WAS called out of the kitchen during the meeting and flatly denied the first charge, stating he prepared portions for 181 meals. He was unaware of any "legal" portion of meat, but cited three to four ounces as normal for a $3.50 restaurant meal.

One woman commented that "we get plenty of meat. Some ladies take some of the meat up to their apartments.

Hostess Olivia Lopez promised that her waitresses would not hurry anyone. She said that there were alternate entrees but often, no one ordered them. Residents protested that they were not aware of the alternates.

Haley ordered that the menu state what alternates are available.

One woman commented that it seemed that it was only the 6 p.m. diners who complained. "Harry" said he allocated slightly more food for the 5 p.m. shift but that more food was, therefore, left over for the 6 p.m. diners.

There were some complaints about gravy and cream sauce spread over dishes and residents asked why the sauce could not come separately. Haley promised to investigate the situation.

One woman complained that liver she was served was baked dry and came without onions.

"I wouldn't eat liver without onions, myself," Haley replied.

ANOTHER complained that vegetables were almost raw.

"We've had complaints about vegetables being overcooked," Haley replied.

"You can't overcook vegetables," the woman retorted.

A dietician explained that menus are made up in such a way that all four major groups of foods are represented, thus ensuring a balanced diet. Fruits are provided in season, she added.

Sanitation District Gets 'Plant of Year' Award

The North San Mateo County Sanitation District in Daly City has received the annual "Plant of the Year" award from the California Water Pollution Control Association.

Nominees for this award are made from among all the wastewater treatment plants located within the nine Bay Area counties.

Recipients are selected on the basis of awareness of the compliance with requirements of the Regional Water Quality Control Board and State and County Health Department regulations; general plant appearance and plant operating procedures; outstanding maintenance programs; professional activities of the staff, and staff's knowledge and application of waste treatment principles.

The award was presented to the NSMCSD at the annual installation dinner of the San Francisco Bay section of the State Water Pollution Control Association on Feb. 1 in San Leandro.

On hand to accept the award was Robert V. Bernicchi, president of the association and the district's Consulting Engineer, Victor Von Aspern, plant superintendent, and David N. Gehre, assistant district manager.

Board Chairman Bernard J. Lycett commended the district staff for their outstanding achievement.

Beard's Petition Rejected

Superior Court Judge Lyle R. Edson has denied the petition of Billy E. Beard, fired Brisbane police chief, for an injunction seeking to have Mayor S.J. Guardino disqualified from conducting the City Council hearing on Beard's appeal of his dismissal.

Beard contended in his suit that he would suffer "prejudicial harm" if Guardino is permitted to sit on the City Council hearing of his appeal.

In his decision, Judge Edson states that "this case does not establish sufficient legal ground to grant the petition."

Judge Edson notes that Guardino was elected by citizens of the community and is "under the duty to perform the functions of that office, including serving on the appeal board . . ."

Furthermore, the judge states, Beard alleges that the mayor directed the city manager to fire him (Beard) as police chief.

LET'S SET THE RECORD STRAIGHT!

It's time the people of Daly City got the facts straight from public documents on file in government offices. Some would have us believe that our city government has for reasons as yet unclear, been deceiving us and have blundered their way through years of prosperous planned growth. Those same few would have us further believe that decisions affecting our lives are made in smoke-filled back rooms at City Hall. Nothing could be further from the truth.

STORY: Daly City politicians were so flattered by the thought BART was coming into the city that no traffic studies or other related works was undertaken. BART, in effect, was welcomed into our community with open arms and closed eyes.

FACT: By an act of the State Legislature more than ten years ago, BART was given powers of eminent domain. They could go where they wanted, when they wanted. By resolution 529 of the BARTD Board of Directors meeting in San Francisco on April 22, 1965, the Daly City station site was ORDERED to proceed over vehement protests of Daly City officials. The property was thus acquired by BART general manager B. R. Stokes without Daly City's approval. Daly City and San Mateo County (which had withdrawn from the District by act of the S.M. Board of Supervisors) were helpless.

ON FEBRUARY 4, 1970 agreement between BART and Daly City was reached after five years of arguments and meetings and only after BART wiped out 180 homes. Daly City did receive for its efforts additional parking spaces at BART, payment for a two block street improvement project along then Knowles Ave. (now John Daly Ave.) and station design. BART also paid for all improvements on DeLong Street.

FROM 1969 until April 1971, when then Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan enacted AB 463 establishing funding under the Federal Fringe Parking benefits act, Daly City's councilmen fought tooth and nail to add parking to the BART station. They saw what was going to happen long ago and knew what was needed. The multi-level garage now in final planning stages, will cost more than $3 million with Daly City's contribution only $300,000.

BARTD is a completely autonomous agency, with the power of eminent domain. They may go where they want, anytime they want.

Had it not been for the stubborn and skilled negotiating of local leaders, Daly City would likely have had an elevated station, maintenance sheds, less than 650 parking spaces and unimproved roads surrounding this facility.

We, the Citizens Committee for Fair Play in Politics, want the facts brought to the people. It would behoove those who mutilate by innuendo and false statements to research their facts. Frankly, we feel Bernard J. Lycett, McRobert L. Stewart, and Victor G. Kyriakis have fully and honestly represented the people of this community. That's why, on March 5th, we intend to cast our votes for all three.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

In our changing world, three things seem constant, death, taxes and an empty cookie jar. I can't offer any advice on the first two, but here are some solutions for the empty cookie jar.

These delightfully simple-to-make cookies are just right for the people who want to cut down on the eggs in their life.

CRISP CEREAL COOKIES

- ½ pound margarine
- ½ cup brown sugar
- ½ cup white sugar
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1¼ cups flour
- 1 cup bran-flakes
- 1½ cups rolled oats

Cream the half pound margarine. Add the half cup each brown and white sugar and cream again. Combine the one teaspoon baking soda with the one and one-fourth cups flour and add to the creamed mixture, mixing well. Lastly blend in the one-cup bran-flakes and one and one-half cups rolled oats. Drop by spoonsful on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 4 to 5 dozen depending on how large you make the spoonsful.

I DON'T want to alienate any chickens or hens who happen to be reading the column . . . so here are some delicious bar cookies calling for eggs.

CHERRY-COCONUT BARS

- 1 cup sifted flour
- ½ cup butter
- 3 tablespoons confectioners' sugar

Heat oven to 350-degrees. With hands, mix the one cup flour with the half cup butter and three tablespoons confectioners' sugar until smooth. Press into bottom of an 8-inch square pan. Bake about 25 minutes, or until lightly browned.

FILLING

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 cup sugar
- ¼ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- three-fourths cup chopped nuts
- ½ cup coconut
- ½ cup quartered maraschino cherries

Combine the two beaten eggs with the one cup sugar, one-fourth cup flour, one-half teaspoon baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vanilla, three-fourths cup chopped nuts, one-half cup coconut and one-half cup maraschino cherries and mix well. Spread over top of baked pastry (no need to cool) and return to oven. Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Cool and cut in bars.

Explorer Posts Winners

Seven Explorer Posts were awarded cash prizes or honorable mentions during Explorer Day at Serramonte Center.

Post No. 244, a Mountain Rescue unit, erected tents and showed climbing equipment and films of their climbs. Post members ran through the mall with a badly injured victim in a stretcher to win the first place prize.

Post No. 31 from the San Francisco Fire Department unit, displayed their 1937 American La France pumping engine with fire fighting and rescue equipment. The Post members demonstrated resuscitation and heart massage, suspension techniques, and distributed educational material. They received the second place award for their efforts.

Post No. 49, the San Francisco Zoo unit, brought a variety of live animals from the zoo, and they explained the Rehabilitation of Wildlife Project at the zoo. Post No. 49 received the third place award.

Four honorable mention ribbons were awarded. Sea Ship No. 17 displayed pictures of their boats, passed out literature on water safety and discussed their activities, to get new members.

Post No. 402, sponsored by Bank of America, erected a fake computer with blinking lights and turning wheels. The computer talked to people, read their horoscope and produced a print-out to take home.

Post No. 85, the Hunter Safety unit, had a magnificent display of guns, bows, ammunition, pictures and literature on hunter safety.

Post No. 44, the Wilderness School, displayed camping equipment, rafts, and backpacking gear. The members talked about their wilderness activities.

Other displays were presented by Post No. 77 on natural foods, by Post No. 980 on marine biology, and by Sea Ship No. 129.

This is an annual event at Serramonte Center to expose the public to the varied activities in the Explorer Scout program.

Friends of DC Library Plan Birthday Review

The Friends of the Daly City Library will present, in celebration of their 18th birthday, a review of Richard Stoddard Aldrich's "Gertrude Lawrence as Mrs. A" to be given by Mrs. Lloyd Wilson at the Bayshore Branch Library, 2960 Geneva Ave., on Feb. 28, at 10:15 a.m.

Mrs. H. C. Kincaid, book review chairman for The Friends, reminds their book reviews are given as a community service and the public is invited to attend free of charge.

Ruth Wilson will step out of her customary role as one of The Friends' current hostesses to be the reviewer, an experience with which she is familiar as a member of the Literary Department of the American Association of University Women.

At the time that Aldrich wrote the intimate biography of his late wife, the great English entertainer and actress, Gertrude Lawrence, he had had a very colorful life himself; however, he has likened his nature "to progress steadily, as one mounts a stair — but not Gertrude. Her movement through life resembled the flight of a bird which soars."

Aldrich, best known as a theatrical producer, was born in Boston, Massachusetts, the son of an executive of the Hood Rubber Company and grandson of the author Thomas Bailey Aldrich. He produced many outstanding, long-running plays starring notable figures in the theatrical world from both the United States and foreign countries. During World War II, shortly after his marriage to Miss Lawrence, he became a lieutenant in the United States Naval Reserves and was advanced through grade to the rank of commander. At the end of World War II, he returned to the sphere of the theater.

Prior to the review there will be a coffee social hostessed by Hospitality Chairman Elvera Sunnell, assisted by Mmes. Klaus Tschorsnig, Anthony Barichievich and Thomas Donohue.

A no-host luncheon honoring Mrs. Wilson will follow the review and will be held at The Winners Restaurant, 2101 Geneva Ave. Reservations may be made at the review.

Exchange Club Sets Serramonte Display

You've just been robbed of $54 billion a year . . . $148 million a day . . . $103 thousand an hour . . . more than $1,750 a minute!

How have you been robbed? By the cost of crime in today's society.

For 27 years, members of Exchange Clubs all over the United States and Puerto Rico have fought against the increasing crime rate in America. Through Exchange's Crime Prevention program, they plan to continue the fight to prevent crime in their communities with the observance of National Crime Prevention Week.

The Exchangites not only are putting up posters, they're also taking time out to talk to school children and steer them away from crime. They point out young people under 18 are becoming involved in serious criminal activity at a rate four times their percentage increase in population.

The Exchangites are passing out information to home owners on how to better protect their property against burglars. They're alerting high school and college age youngsters about the opportunities in law enforcement careers . . . and more.

The Daly City Exchange Club will have a display on Serramonte Shopping Center's Mall Feb. 21-22.

More than 300 Girl Scouts have signed up to take part in the annual Thinking Day program to be held Feb. 22 at 3:30 p.m. in the Daly City Memorial Building.

The annual observance is held on the mutual birthday of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, the founders of Boy Scouting and Girl Scouting, and scouts around the world join together for an international moment of meditation and study.

Mrs. Carole Ann Scott and her Troop 620 will lead a brief program of international meditation for peace and understanding. Senior Scouts will teach international games and contributions to the Julliet Low World Friendship Fund will be accepted. Participants will conclude the program at approximately 5 p.m.

MRS. BEVERLY POWELSON reminds localites that the Holy Angels Parish Monte Carlo night is on tap Feb. 23 at 7:30 p.m.

No reservations are necessary. Guests will be asked to contribute $1 to a parish fund. A wide variety of games and prizes will be available and a free buffet is included in the plans for the event.

Richard Botta and Mrs. Audrey Zanobini are the chairmen.

ANOTHER appeal from the Friends Outside for playing cards, checkers or jigsaw puzzles to be used at the San Bruno jail.

Also on the list of needed items are used, but servicable clothing and shoes for men and dominoes. Anyone wishing to contribute to the project should call 661-6900 or drop donations at the Friends Outside office, 3101 Nineteenth Ave. in San Francisco.

ARE YOU A COLLECTOR or a saver who would like to find someone who could make use of the items you have been storing away? Two requests for just the sort of thing you might have tucked away in a cupboard arrived this week.

The members of the Fifty Plus club are attempting to compile a loose leaf binder collection of favorite old songs and contributions are very welcome.

A special need is for words and music to "My Rosary." While the club wants both the music and the words Mrs. Edna Laurel Calhan indicates that they will be very grateful for just the words if that is all anyone has in his or her possession.

If you have any music you are willing to part with contact Mrs. Calhan, by calling 334-4757.

.....THE SECOND REQUEST is for used stamps. The Tuba City Presbyterian Mission to the Navajo Indians raises extra money for educational materials by selling used stamps.

If you would like to assist with the drive please place used commemorative stamps, used stamps (over 8 cents) or foreign stamps in an envelope marked "used stamps" and mail or deliver to Lakeside Presbyterian Church, Nineteenth Avenue and Eucalyptus Dr. in San Francisco.

The mission is unable to resell Christmas issues or regular 8 cent stamps so please sort those out of your envelope before sending.

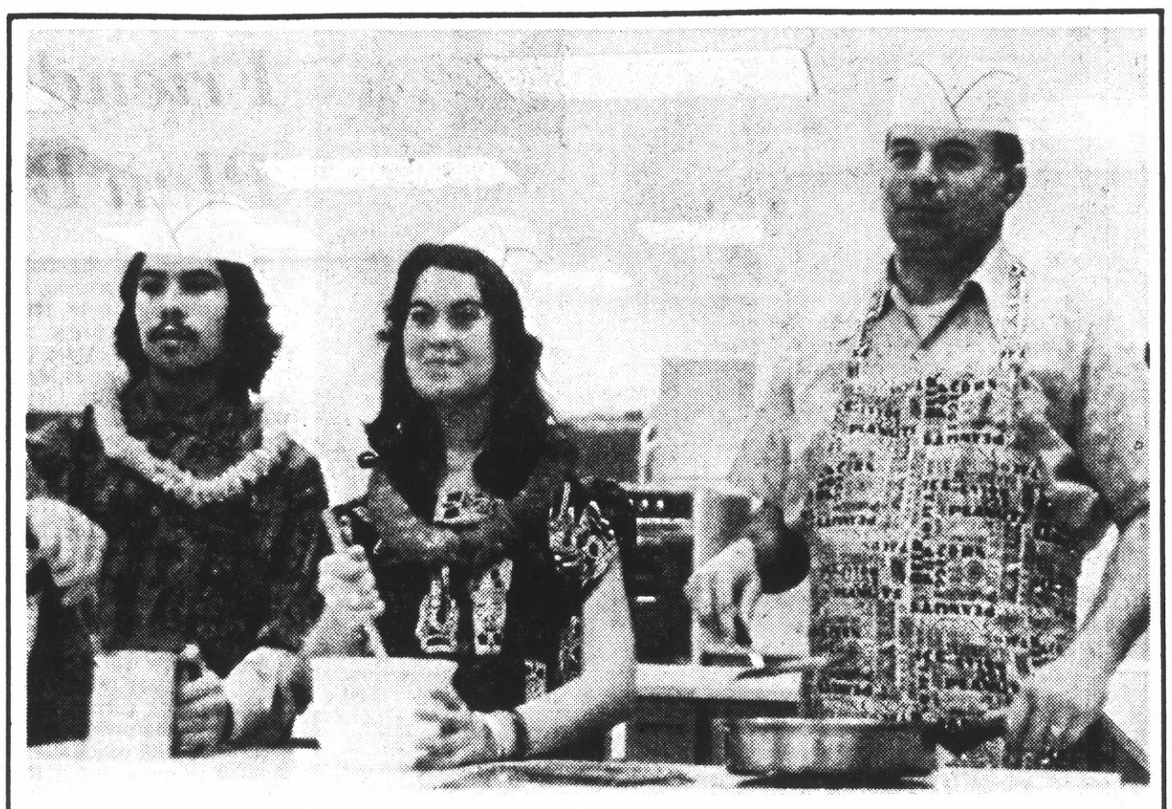
WINNERS OF THE MARY'S Help Hospital Guild's Educational Fund "scholarships" have been announced by the chairman of the Educational Fund Assistance program, Mrs. Evelyn Fitzgerald.

Awarded funds to help further their education in the health field were Ramon Koh of the physical therapy department at the hospital; Mrs. Mary Vercoutre, nurses aide; Linda Balanesi, hospital volunteer and nursing student; Mrs. Shirley Harris of the laundry department; Patricia Rusert, college student; Lynn Quigley, dietary department; Ruth Gigli, volunteen; Eugene Ong, volunteen; Laura Ramsetter, dietary department and Julie Pezzola, dietary department.

Members of the Mary's Help Hospital Guild contribute to the fund to make the annual awards possible.

THE DEVELOPMENT fund of Riordan High School was the recipient of the proceeds from a smorgasboard dinner and games night held at the school this past week.

Mrs. William Sandoval was the chairwoman of the Valentine's Day party. Assisting were Mrs. Theresa Cuff, reservations chairwoman and Mrs. John Bologna, publicity chairwoman.



BREAKFAST CALL — The pancake breakfast sponsored by the Serramonte Concert Band will be Feb. 24 from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the cafeteria of the school, 699 Serramonte Blvd.
Cost of the breakfast will be $1.75 for adults and $1 for children. Tickets are available in advance from band members or may be purchased at the door.
Another feature of the breakfast will be a boutique with "white elephants," hand-made items, and baked goods.
Band members and their families will cook, serve and clean-up for this event, which is to help the band get to the Hawaiian Festival of Music. Pictured, left to right, are Sam Martinez, Mortina Kurapiet and Jack Winters.

GIRL SCOUTING

FEBRUARY 21 is the date for the annual evening meeting of the Daly City Girl Scout Association, according to Chairwoman Mrs. Margaret Connolly.

Breuner's Community Room will be the setting for the 7 p.m. to 8:45 p.m. meeting,which will open with a detailed explanation of camping facilities and opportunities throughout the area by Camping Coordinator Mrs. Mary Ann Dale.

Senior Scouts, as well as daytime working adults, are invited to this conference, which will feature Twila Foster, Karen Kjeldgaard, Dorice Robinson and Jane Stewart's reports on their national opportunities.

Leaders will meet by troop age level in the concluding workshop period.

THINKING DAY, an international peace celebration of Girl Scouting, will be celebrated locally from 3:30 to 5 p.m. at the Daly City Memorial Building, today with special ceremonies.

Donations to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund, by troops, also will be collected that day, according to the special events chairwoman, Mrs. Carol Klatt.

Only troops with reservations will be admitted because of room capacity. Some of the pre-registered troops include Juniors 738, 446, 858, 476 and 2630, and Brownies 1810, 1704 and 769.

SWIMMING for Brownies will be tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Jefferson High School pool, with lifeguards provided. Permission slips are required.

CADETTE TROOP 1620 will lead the opening ceremony and teach world greetings at Friday's Thinking Day celebration, according to troop leader Mrs. CaroleAnn Scott.

Denise Barera, Joan Battaglia, Kathy Boltin, Lisa Braski, Julie Castelluci, Pam Chung, Rosendo Gomez, Kathryn Hansel, Cynthia Lewkowitz, Kellie Patackas, Cynthia Ray and Christina Sola will lead games.

GEMS, "Good Emergency Mother Substitutes" course at Crestmoor High on March 16 is for girls aged 11-14. Scouts may register with Mrs. Donna Barnes, 756-1639.TROOP 2791's recent mother's tea saw the investiture of Patricia Shceffler and Susan Rainville as the girls joined Catherine Crowley, Tina Dotti, Patricia Giusti, Julia Phillips, Yvette Portacamoro and Lisa Sirianni to entertain their mothers at tea.

Social Dance Classes Set In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department has announced a new session of social dance classes for adults.

The session will begin on March 5 and continue through April 16.

All classes will be held at the Westlake Elementary School, 80 Fieldcrest Drive.

Beginners will meet from 7:30-8:30 p.m. and classes will feature foxtrot, bossa nova and rock. Intermediates will meet from 8:45-9:45 p.m. and will include samba, swing and a review.

Mrs. Gene Evans will instruct all classes.

Boy Scout Volunteer Officials Are Elected

William Cloonan of Colma and John T. Montgomery of San Bruno recently were elected vice presidents of the San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Enrico J. Romano, Pacifica, will continue his unexpired term as an executive board member-at-large.

Elected to serve until Dec. 31, 1976 were North County adult scouters Lloyd D. Griffin, Pacifica; and Alvin L. Schwarzbach, Daly City.

Elected to a two-year term were Roy Carter of Pacifica and Charles Purcell of Burlingame. San Bruno's John Montgomery also will serve as a member of the National Scouting Council.

The Advisory Council to the Executive Board includes Judge Jose deLarios of South San Francisco and Chester Wiggins of San Bruno.

Council members-at-large from the North County include Basil Fleming, Jr., Pacifica; Ed Houg, Pacifica; William Maher, Pacifica; Rosalind Morino, Daly City; James P. Sargen, Daly City; Harold Schwalke, Pacifica; and Marvin D. Steed of Pacifica.

'Craig's Wife' Rehearsals By Spindrift

The cast for the Pacifica Sprindrift Players' next production of George Kelly's "Craig's Wife" is now into rehearsal under the direction of Robert Southworth. Set for a March 1 opening, the cast features some of Pacifica's most well known and experienced actors.

In the feature roles of Harriett and Walter Craig are Charlene Amick and Luther Spraker. Charlene is the current vice president of the players and has been active in all of the various acting and creative aspects of theater. She has been seen in "Portrait in Black," "Blithe Spirit," and "The Rainmaker," to name a few. She created the costume for "The Importance of Being Earnest."

Luther directed last season's "Ladies in Retirement" and has been seen in "Blythe Spirit," "Any Wednesday," and "The American Dream." He is also known for his set designs.

Helen Burns, Sydney Clark and Berneice Olson are in the roles of Mrs. Harold, Mrs. Frazier and Mrs. Austin. Helen was last seen in "Bell, Book and Candle," Sydney in "The Odd Couple," and Berneice in "Ladies in Retirement."

How does Watergate affect youth?

How do young people respond when a vice president is caught in a web of fraud; when innocent people are kidnapped for the crime of being born to a wealthy family; or when newspaper reporters moving behind a mask of public service can speak libel against officials or when officers of the government rifle a doctors office to find information that might be embarrassing to the administration?

For one answer, witness a paper prepared by eighth grader, Steven Hubachek, for his class. Although the reasoning may seem adolescent to some adults, the paper rings with authenticity and should serve as a warning as well as a reassuring statement of concerned youth. What follows is a digest of his paper.

"Cheating in our schools has reached epidemic proportions. Last week a first grader forged his father's signature on a detention slip. A third grader had a religion test torn up because she had notes written on her hand. My eighth grade class of 30 people who will receive the Sacrament of Christian Maturity this spring, had to be divided in half for an exam because our teacher heard rumors of cheating plans.

"Lying is rampant in our schools. Stealing is not unknown. I submit that the problems in our school: cheating, lying, stealing are not unique. These practices are growing in every school in the country.

"My generation is in danger of becoming the Watergate generation. With the example being set by our leaders in government and by our parents, how can we, the children of today, become people of conscience. We who were born since 1960 identify this as the age of Spiro Agnew, John Mitchell and H. R. Haldemann.

"I think that corruption in politics is one of the main reasons for the decline in broader social morality. Justice Brandeis, in a Supreme Court decision wrote, 'Our government is the potent, the omnipresent teacher. For good, or for ill, it teaches the whole people by its example.'

"When America's youth hears the President's name mentioned in cases of burglary, cover-up, phony tax write offs, illegal campaign contributions, and the entanglement of erased tapes, they are shaken to the foundation of their ideals.

"At their worst, the business men have reinforced political corruption by bribery and by illegal contributions. At best business leaders have kept a safe silence on immorality in high offices. With few exceptions, church men have also ignored the crimes that every day are discussed in our newspapers.

"SOMEHOW, the example of our leaders makes tax evasion, stealing, etc., a little less wrong than they were a year or two ago.

"Young people are probably the group most effected by the decline in political and social morality. We look to parents for moral example, since we lack an adult's wealth of experience. Far too often, we observe a morality in which a person judges an act not on the basis of right or wrong but on whether or not he is likely to be caught. With this kind of moral example, it should not be surprising that many of us cheat, lie, and steal.

"Yet, do we have to become the Watergate Generation? Not unless we wish to! We, who will be voting in a few years, can direct our talents for political activism to the support of candidates of integrity and principle. Ultimately, however, a social morality derives from individual morality. If we wish to live in a more moral society, we must, ourselves, as individuals, make a moral commitment. Integrity has to be ingrained and consistent; it cannot be turned on like a spotlight for occasional public display. Thomas More must replace Spiro Agnew as a model for our personal and social conscience.

"There is no better place to implement a new commitment to morality than in our school. Even though he was referring to a position far more powerful than that of an eighth grade student, John F. Kennedy, provided a guide for us here and now.

"AND WHEN, at some future date, the high court of history sits in judgment on each of us, eecording whether in our brief span of service we fulfilled our responsibilities to the state, our success or failure, in whatever office we hold, will be measured by the answers to four questions; First, were we truly men of courage . . . Second, were we truly men of judgment . . . Third, were we truly men of integrity . . . Finally, were we truly men of Dedication?"

Show Troupe Benefit

A 35-minute performance by the El Camino High School Show Troupe has been added to the program of the benefit dance sponsored by the school's Performing Arts Parents Club March 2, at the Machinists Hall in Burlingame.

Dance co-chairman George Macais said funds from the parents club will support the 45-member Show Troupe on a tour of five Northern California cities during the last week of March. Proceeds from the dance also will add to a continuing fund to provide professional lighting equipment for the El Camino Little Theater.

Macias said the El Camino Jazz Band will provide the music for the dance, under the direction of music instructor Ted Marr. Refreshments will be available throughout the evening, and a complimentary midnight buffet will be served.

Health for People

By Keevin Davis and Carmen Olivares

The controversy behind the recommendation to close Chope County Hospital is an issue that's of importance to us all. This article, which is based on the Health Task Force Report, will hopefully familiarize our readers with what are felt to be the most important basic components of the two different health systems which were studied: the Centralized Health Care System in which Chope remains open as against the Regionalized Health Care System in which Chope is closed.

The Centralized Health Care System would require Chope's continued functioning, called Model 1 in the report. The Regionalized Health Care System would revolve around five different health agencies located throughout the county, referred to as Model 2.

In the Report, reference is continually made to "The priority population." "The priority population" is defined as: those people who don't have sufficient funds to purchase the health services they need. They are the people who have a difficult time finding their way into and through the complex health care system without assistance, and those people who don't have health services conveniently close to their homes.

PRIMARY CARE SERVICES under Model 1 would be provided at Chope County Hospital through the development of a family health center. It would be difficult for people, living long distances from Chope, to reach the hospital. This would call for increased transportation services. It will also be necessary to build a new outpatient facility to meet the projected patient load.

Under Model 2, primary care services would be provided by qualified providers such as Mary's Help Hospital and Guadalupe Health Center in the north and Drew Health Center in East Palo Alto in the south. Also, two county health care service units would be established at the two publicly owned district hospitals. County Health Care Service Teams would be developed, consisting of a social worker, a public health nurse, a community worker and five eligibility workers for each 1,500 members of the priority population. This provides health services at five or more locations in the county, making access easier for members of "The prority population."

EMERGENCY CARE SERVICES under Model 1, would be provided by Chope County Hospital and emergency contracts would be improved with other community hospitals. Medical social services at Chope would have to be extended through the evening hours and the emergency room itself might have to be rennovated.

Under Model 2, emergency care services would be available at Mary's Help Hospital. Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco is another source for emergency care. County contracts with providers of emergency services would have to be expanded.

ACUTE INPATIENT CARE SERVICES under Model 1 would be provided by Chope County Hospital. The total number of beds planned for are 95. This total does not include beds for Obstetric and Pediatric patients, because of a recommendation not to include them.

Under Model 2, acute inpatient care services would be provided at Mary's Help Hospital and possibly at Kaiser Hospital in South San Francisco. Guadalupe Health Center may contract with St. Luke's Hospital for inpatient services. Peninsula Hospital in the central area would also be available for acute inpatient care if needed and would serve as back-up support.

SPECIALIZED AMBULATORY CARE SERVICES under Model 1 would be provided by Chope County Hospital Outpatient Department. Services not provided by the department would be obtained from specialty physicians in the area. Again, expanded transportation services would be necessary to assure the effective delivery of services to people who are unable to get to Chope without such assistance.

Under Model 2, specialized ambulatory care services would be provided by physicians in private practice or at Mary's Help Hospital. Specialty physicians from Kaiser Hospital may participate at a later date. The County Health Service Teams would continue to provide for continuity of health care and follow-up.

Next week this article will conclude with the "Response to the Conclusions of the Task Force Report" by the Chope Hospital Medical Staff. Also included will be the advantages of the Regionalized Health Care System.

% % % % %

PRIMARY CARE SERVICES are routine medical care problems handled by G.P.'s, internists, pediatricians and obstetricians gynecologists.

EMERGENCY CARE SERVICES (usually handled in emergency rooms) are medical problems that require immediate attention in order to save life or limb.

ACUTE INPATIENT CARE SERVICES is medical care that requires hospitalization, operations, heart attacks, etc.

SPECIALIZED AMBULATORY CARE SERVICES are handled by specialists who evaluate certain complicated problems or paramedical services such as: transportation, social services and mental health.

La controversia detras de la recomendacion de cerrar el Hospital General Chopê es un tema de importancia para todos. Este articulo, basado en el Reporte del Comite Especial, tratara de familiarizar a nuestro publico con puntos generales de los dos diferentes sistemas que fueron estudiados: El Programa con un Hospital Cntralizado del Condado, en el cual el Hospital Chope continuara abierto y el Programa de Servicios Medicos Regionalizado, en el cual el Hospital Chope sera cerrado.

El Programa con un Hospital Centralizado del Condado requiere quel Hospital Chope continue en operacion. Este es dado el titulo de Modelo Numero 1 en el reporte. El Programa de Medicos Regionalizado seria compuesto de cinco distintas Agencias de Salud localizadas por todo el condado, este es designado el titulo de Modelo Numero 2.

En el reporte se habla a menudo sobre "La poblacion de mas necesidad." "La poblacion de mas necesidad' es definida como: aquellas personas quienes no tienen los fondos suficientes para conseguir los servicios medicos que necesitan. Son las personas quienes tienen dificultad entrando y pasando atravez del complicado sistema medico sin ayuda, tambien son aquellas para los que los proveedores de servicios medicos no se encuentran cerca de sus hogares.

SERVICIOS DE CUIDADO PRIMARIOS bajo el Modelo 1 serian proveidos por parte del Hospital Chope a ellos desarollando un Centro de Salud familiar. Para muchas personas que viven lejos del Hospital Chope se les haria muy dificil viajar hasta el Hospital. Por esto se necesita mas servicios de transportacion. Tambien sera necesario construir nuevas facilidades para pacientes ambulantes, para tratar de cubrir el numero de pacientes que se espera.

Bajo el Modelo 2, servicios de salud primarios serian dados por varios proveedores como el Hospital de Mary's Help y el Centro de Salud de Guadalupe en el norte, y el Centro de Salud de Drew en el sur. Tambien dos equipos de servicios de salud del condado serian establecidos en dos hospitales publicos del distrito.

Estos Equipos de Salud del Condado serian desarrollados, compuestos de un trabajador social, una enfermera publica, un trabajador en la comunidad y cinco trabajadores de eligibilidad para cada 1,500 miembros registrados de la poblacion de mas necesidad. Esto provee servicios de salud para cinco o mas locales en el condado, facilitando el acceso y transportacion para los miembros de la populacion de mas necesidad.

SERVICIOS MEDICOS DE EMERGENCIA bajo el Modelo 1, seran mantenidos en el Hospital Chope. Sera necesario mejorar los contratos de emergencia con los otros hospitales de la comunidad. En el Hospital Chope servicios medicos y sociales en la sala de emergencia se extenderan a horas de noche. La area de la sala de emergencia misma tendra que ser renovada.

Bajo el Modelo 2, servicios de emergencia estaran disponibles en el Hospital Kaiser en South San Francisco es otro recurso para el servicio de emergencia. Contratos mas extensos del condado con proveedores de servicios de emergencia seran necesarios.

SERVICIOS ESPECIALIZADOS PARA PACIENTES INTERNOS bajo el Modelo 1, serian proveidos por el Hospital Chope. El numero total planeado de camas es 95. Este total no incluye camas para pacientes de Obstetricas o Pediatricas, ya que la recomendacion no los incluye.

Bajo el Modelo 2, servicios especializados para pacientes internos serian proveeidos en el Hospital de Mary's Help y posiblemente Kaiser en South San Francisco. Puede que Guadalupe contrate con el Hospital de St. Luke's para servicios de pacientes internos. El Hospital de Peninsula en la area central tambien estaria disponible para servicios especializados para pacientes internos si lo fuera necesario y serviria como un respaldo a los otros.

SERVICIOS ESPECIALES PARA CUIDADO AMBULATORIO bajo el Modelo 1, se proveeran por ~~el~~ departamento renovado de pacientes ambulatorios en el Hospital Chope. Servicios no proveidos por este departamento se obtendran de medicos especialistas en la area: De vuelta, servicios de transportacion seran necesarios para asegurar una entrega de servicios eficientes para las personas que no pueden llegar al Hospital Chope sin tal asistencia.

Bajo el Modelo 2, servicios especiales para cuidado ambulatorio seran proveeidos por medicos con consultorios privados o en el Hospital Mary's Help. Medicos especializados del Hospital Kaiser pudieran participar algun dia en el futuro. Los equipos de servicios medicos en el condado contribuiran a proveer la continuacion de los servicios.

SERVICIOS DE CUIDADO PRIMARIO son problemas comunes de cuidado medico atendidos por medicos de practica General, Especialistas en Medicina Interna, Doctores de Obstetricia y Doctores de Pediatricia.

SERVICIOS MEDICOS DE EMERGENCIA comunmente atendidos en cuartos de emergencia; son problemas que requieren atencion immediata para salvar vida o parte del cuerpo.

SERVICIOS ESPECIALIZADOS PARA PACIENTES INTERNOS son tratamientos medicos que requieren hospitalizacion: cirujia, ataques del corazon, etc.

SERVICIOS ESPECIALES PARA CUIDADO AMBULATORIO son atendidos por especialistas que avaluan ciertos problemas o servicios paramedicos como: transportacion, servicios sociales y salud mental.

THE MARQUEE

By Barbara Bladen

Driving back and forth across the country as actor-director-producer of the prison play, "The Cage" when its author, Rick Cluchey, went to Europe in 1972 to perform with his company there, gave Ken Whelan plenty of time to think about writing a play of his own.

"I first thought of doing a musical called 'San Quentin' named for an Indian and founded on that point in the bay where an old Spanish galleon was wrecked and used to house prisoners. I meant it to be an epic about an Indian. But other thoughts kept filtering in and the central character changed as I thought of the many men who'd lived and died there."

Ex-Con and a New Prison Angle

He was speaking of "The Ballad of Dangerous George," set for its world premiere tonight at the Artists Enterprise Theater, 430 Mason Street, San Francisco (formerly the Encore Theater where the Actor's Workshop and "The Cage" performed).

"It's not a propagandistic work, but a literary piece. I am an ex-convict, but I'm a writer too and I've written about everything and everybody I knew."

For most of the 15 years the 41-year-old Whelan spent behind bars and in honor camps, he was an avid reader ("the entire Harvard classics in solitary") and worked closely with Cluchey in the San Quentin Drama Workshop for most of his eight years there on an armed robbery conviction. By the time he was paroled, the Barbwire Theater had been formed, "The Cage" was touring colleges and Whelan became business and artistic partner for the long-running play that currently is being performed in Florida and England.

"I guess I needed those six years out of prison to get objectivity and I hope this play accomplishes that. The one aspect of prison life that's been given little attention were the early days of political factions.

"It's not the old theme of 'woe is us' and of stereotypes, but of the struggle between the white neo-Nazis and the Black Muslims. They're very active and the source of great agitation in prisons.

"It's the nature of the role the custodial officer plays that's attractive to men who get those jobs. Most of them have a fascistic mentality and tend to support white convicts with those same sentiments.

"My character, George T. Jones, bears no resemblance to George T. Jackson. Many facts about his death are still unknown. I've pictured Jones as a black man who grew up on the streets and knew how to hustle for a living.

"When he goes back to prison on a parole violation and tries to use the same techniques he's learned in society, with some anticipation of manipulating the prison world, he finds everything changed. His old cellmate buddy, Bobby Preston, is now Abduhl Jamal and political pressure is put on him.

"He's too intelligent to sell out to a narrow ideology and befriends a white prisoner. It's about two human beings trying to be human beings in a place designed to dehumanize."

More than 300 actors turned out at auditions for the 16 speaking roles. There are up to 24 people on stage at a time, many of them Equity actors working in the small 99-seat theater. Whelan is working closely with Guthrie Theater director David Feldshuh.

"Some people will think it's a theatrical device to have four convicts in white gloves lift the body of George off the domino table at the beginning of the play. But I know differently.

Mary's Help Accredited By CMA

Mary's Help Hospital was recently granted a two-year accreditation by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Hospitals (JCAH) according to Rex G. Chase, administrator.

This accreditation is the result of an intensive on-site survey made by field representatives of the Joint Commission's Hospital Accreditation Program in conjunction with the California Medical Association (CMA). Accreditation indicates that Mary's Help Hospital operates according to standards set by JCAH and the CMA and that is has met these standards.

These standards, published as the "Accreditation Manual for Hospitals," set forth optimal goals of excellence against which a facility can measure itself and be measured by the Joint Commission's survey.

Mary's Help Hospital is one of approximately 4,900 general hospitals throughout the U.S. that have earned this recognition. There are approximately 6,600 general hospitals in the U.S.

The Joint Commission accreditation surveys are voluntary. According to Chase, it is not legally necessary for a hospital to be accredited, but health care facilities seek accreditation because it is a mark of quality higher than governmental licensure alone.

The chief aim of the Hospital Accreditation Program is to help hospitals in their pursuit of excellence and thereby provide a higher quality of care to patients. The program also seeks to recognize, and to identify for the public, those facilities which meet its standards.

Mary's Help Hospital is a 270-bed general hospital operated by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincen de Paul. The hospital was originally located in San Francisco's Mission District, but moved in 1965 to Daly City from where it serves residents of Northern San Mateo County as well as the San Francisco community.

'Nanette' Coming To Serra

"No, No, Nanette," a musical about those olden days of the Twenties will come to Serra High School stage Feb. 22 and 23 at 8:15 p.m.

The West Valley Light Opera Company of Saratoga will play for the benefit of the Serra music department.

The production is a nonsense musical featuring tap dancing and costumes of 1925. Hit songs include "Tea for Two," and "I Want to be Happy."

The show comes to Serra after more than a dozen sold out nights at the Civic Center Theater in Saratoga.

Philip Garay, faculty chairman of Serra's music department is also music director for this production.

"Nanette" stars Barbara Valente who is also show choreographer. Before coming to the Bay Area she performed on Sacramento TV and at Lake Tahoe with George Liberace. C. Michael Traw is director.

Critics acclaimed "Nanette" the happiest show in town during its New York run. According to Burt Shevelove, who adapted and directed that production, "Nanette" provides a happy evening, during which the audience can relax, smile, hold hands and forget the world of today.

"No one wants to leave the theatre," he said. "No one wants to leave 1925."

Reserved seats may be ordered by phoning 345-8208.

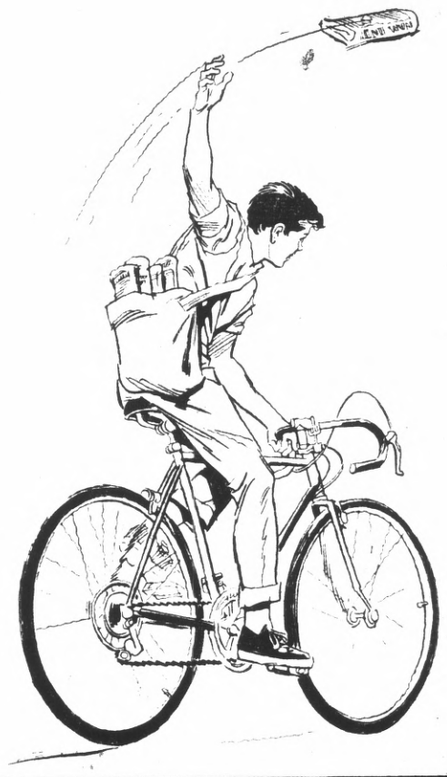
From cycling newspapers . . .



to recycling newspapers!

Recycling of newspapers is enthusiastically endorsed by The Times for a variety of reasons. First, as you have probably read about in the newspaper, there is a current shortage of some paper products, including newsprint, and even though the shortage is not critical, recycling newspapers can help to improve the current situation and prevent future shortages.

Secondly, recycling of newspapers has ecological benefits. It helps conserve natural resources and reduces the amount of waste that has to be disposed of.

Lastly, newspaper collection drives provide excellent fund-raising projects for many organizations. The Times supports these programs and encourages everyone to aid the many youth, church and fraternal organizations in their newspaper collection drives.

Watch The Times each Friday, starting February 22, for the listings on on-going and future newspaper collection drives in San Mateo County. You will find this information in the new Community Bulletin Board column.

Slipping Away from the Urban Scramble

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Bahia de la Los Angeles lazes in the desert sun about midway along the Gulf Coast of Baja California.

For centuries it was nothing more than a sleepy fishing village of 74 people who depended on the ocean for their livelihood.

Arid and laced with deep canyons and commanded by craggy mountain ranges, Baja was considered to be 800 miles — stretching from the United States border south to La Paz — of treacherous country braved by only the most daring traveler.

A few seasoned pilots, like Fred Martin and his wife, Grace, however, dared to land on the narrow, chuckholed 2,500 foot long dirt runway at Bahia.

Martin, a Daly City insurance agent, liked the village despite its antiquated landing field, and because of its inaccessibility.

"We'd go down and rest for a weekend at Papa Diaz' hotel," Martin said.

While Papa Diaz' 15-room "resort" may be considered "a little on the primitive side compared to our hotels in California," it is a top quality facility for Baja, Martin notes.

Black marlin and sailfish abound in the waters off Bahia. Record catches are almost an everyday occurrence in the area.

More than fishing, most folks went there to "get away from the urban scramble," as Martin calls it.

For years Bahia's economy was sound without tourism, according to Martin. American pilots flew in and out daily to points up and down the Peninsula, some staying in Papa Diaz' hotel overnight.

Once a year the grueling "Baja 500" auto race passed through the town and the population swelled for a few days in some outside money to stimulate growth in the ruggedly beautiful countryside, says Martin.

While the government was ready and willing to expand its highway network in the form of a north-south highway between La Paz and Tijuana, towns, for the most part, weren't prepared for the onslaught of tourists, Martin said.

"Even though Bahia de la Los Angeles is about 50 miles off the new highway over a dirt road, an increasing number of people are 'finding' the town," Martin said.

There are few accommodations, he said, and fewer gasoline stations

And there is rarely a repair shop to fix cars, according to Martin.

"It's at least 100 miles between towns on that road and if a motorist breaks down he's had it," Martin said.

What about pilots needing repairs and gasoline?

"If they're lucky the airport will have some gasoline. You can just about forget about getting parts unless you send back to the States for them," he said.

Another warning Martin had for those Americans traveling in Mexico:

"Carry Mexican insurance. Without it you may end up in jail if you get in an accident," Martin said.

But even though parts are hard to get, and gasoline is becoming scarce, and risks still haunt the traveler, Martin feels the reward of "getting away from it all in Baja" is worth the effort.

DALY CITY INSURANCE MAN Fred Martin and wife, Grace, take a brief rest at airstrip in Bahia de la Los Angeles, Baja California before heading home in their Beechcraft Bonanza aircraft. Martin flies down to isolated Gulf village to "get away from it all" periodically.

Some Thoughts on New Care Labeling

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor BBB Barometer

The care labeling rule of the Federal Trade Commission requires that most articles of clothing bear permanent "care labels" and that such labels be provided with fabrics bought for home sewing.

When you shop, examine care labels. They will help you predict the wear and cost of upkeep in deciding what materials to buy. Insist that salespersons at fabric shops provide you with care labels suitable for application to the finished job.

Permanent care labels must disclose fully and clearly the regular care and maintenance required. Spot care information is not required. They also must inform the consumer how to wash, iron, dry, bleach, dry clean and any other procedures used in the care of a particular article. They must warn if usual care methods seem to apply, but do not.

Instructions must be positive. For example, "no bleach" does not explain to the consumer what can be done to the finished garment. Promotional language such as "never needs ironing" does not disclose if ironing is possible and if so, at what temperature. Therefore such a discription is not to be used.

Labels must stay stitched and legible for the life of the garment. Instructions must apply to all materials included in the garment's design and manufacture.

In washing, ironing and dry-cleaning, follow the care label instructions. Observe solvent warnings when using coin-operated dry cleaning equipment. Remind your dry cleaner to follow care label instructions.

Your Better Business Bureau urges you to support the care lebaling ruling. If this law is to operate properly, consumers, as well as manufacturers, must understand their responsibilities. The company that directed or controlled the manufacturer of the finished article is responsible for the care labeling of clothing. The manufacturer of piece goods must make labels available to retailers for their use at point of sale. Importers are also responsible for seeing that their merchandise is properly labeled under the law.

Check labels carefully before purchasing garments. In this way care labeling regulation will force more concern on the part of the manufacturers to produce goods that must live up to care claims. If the labeling rules appear to be violated, you, as a consumer should complain to the store manager and get the name of the manufacturer and complain in writing. Also, inform the state and local cunsomer protection agencies and the FTC of such violations.

Skyline Offers Picture Frame Class at Night

A free Skyline College Community Services program on "Picture Framing and Art Work Preservation" will be offered March 6, 7:30 to 9 p.m., in Room 308, Building 2 on the campus.

In his lecture, Paul Frederick will share his 20 years of experience framing works of art.

Frederick is technical framing consultant to "Decor," a magazine of fine interiors, and was editor of the Professional Picture Framers Association's monthly publication.

Although no admission is being charged, seating is limited; request free tickets from the college box office. Seat reservation forms can be found on Community Services brochures, available from libraries in the North County. Numerous Chinese Dishes At Bargain Prices

King Wong Chinese, one of the nine Garden Restaurants located on the lower level of Tanforan Park Shopping Center, San Bruno, offers a wide variety of excellent Chinese dishes. King Wong is now featuring numerous items at bargain prices (see today's advertisement in Bright Lights), and these low prices also prevail on food to go. For food to take out, call 873-2940 . . . Another enticement has been added to the recently remodeled Whiskey Hill, in Burlingame. A dance contest is featured every Wednesday night, with cash prizes to winning participants (compliments of club owner Pete Brallier). . . . Monroe and Bobbi Schneider of Hillsborough (he's president of Contract Interiors, the big hotel furnishing firm) entertained a client from Reno at a dinner party in the elegant Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery, in downtown San Francisco. Phil Lehr's Pay-by-the-Ounce idea in steak service is so unique that it's copyrighted. It's a huge success with big eaters and dieters, alike; extra-choice steaks are cut to your exact order, so you always get just the right size steak to suit your appetite.

Michel and Nadia Return to Le Parisien

Back on the restaurant scene after a year of traveling around the country, Michel and Nadia Janicka are again serving their French continental cuisine at Le Parisien. This hospitable couple (they're the original owners of the French restaurant, which is located in Burlingame) invites you to again enjoy such exquisite dishes as Rack of Lamb and Steak au Poivre (pepper steak). "If it is less than best, I will refuse to serve it," says Michel . . . Modern Country and Western music has arrived in downtown San Mateo. Western Reunion is the group now playing at the new Shiloh on Third Avenue. Don Locke, manager of the club, says you can enjoy the entertainment nightly, Wednesdays through Sundays . . . A special Prime Rib dinner is now available at the Show Boat, a floating restaurant which is bayside in Burlingame. Priced at $3.50, the dinner is served complete with choice of soup or salad. However, to qualify for this special price you must make reservations in advance . . . Ask for Manager Clyde Carr or his assistant Ken Fuller.

CRUSTACEAN SPECIALISTS — Dapper Vince Licata (right), boss of Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant in San Mateo, inspects his daily supply of fresh crab with his daughter, Angela, and son, Louis who able assist in the thriving restaurant and Fish Depot, along with daughter Rosalind, son Tony and Vince's wife, Nina.

Castaway Sunday Brunch Popular

Mike Hesser, new general manager of The Castaway restaurant at Coyote Point, reports that the Sunday Brunch continues to thrive. The brunch is offered from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and includes champagne and a visit to the Island Fruit Buffet. To insure a window table, it's best to call for reservations . . . Szechuan dishes are one of the specialties at Chen's Chinese restaurant in San Carlos. Considered among the most outstanding in Chinese cooking, Szechuan foods are fairly spicy. Owner Jim Chen is an expert in this kind of cuisine and will be pleased to assist you in your selections . . . Beat the Prime ribs of beef served at Scotty Campbell's and you rate the "Food Oscar" of the week. Steak is another magic word here. It's not unusual to see celebrities of stage, screen, radio and television, as well as dignitaries of the political world, dining in the comfort and luxury of this well sought-out Redwood City restaurant . . . Sunday Ramos Fizz Brunch at Lehr's Greenhouse restaurant in San Francisco is so popular that Owner Murray Lehr now opens the doors at 9:30 a.m. on Sundays and serves 'til 2:30 p.m. to accommodate the crowds. It's a super-feast of gourmet delicacies with a delicious Ramos Fizz included, for just $3.95.

Shirt Tail a Dazzling Spot for Any Occasion

After dinner at Palo Alto's sophisticated Shirt Tail restaurant (don't let the name mislead you, it's a dazzling, luxurious spot), linger in the sunken lounge and enjoy the piano bar entertainment provided by Dodd Baker. Incidentally, check their "gold machine," a gleaming four-foot-high Cappuccino-making contraption from Italy. With valves, dials, levers, pipes and spouts, it looks like a Rube Goldberg device. But it makes heavenly hot drinks such as Cappucino L'Amour, with espresso coffee, liquers and rare spices . . . Joe De Dio has done it again! The genial general manager of Holiday Inn, Belmont has again extended the special "2 for 1" steak dinner promotion. Appropriately billed the "Belmont Steaks," this special is now valid through the month of February

No Energy Crisis for Finocchio's Staff

If an energy meter could be attached to each performer in the Finocchio revue, Russell Reed would probably win it. This 300-pound singer and dancer pours everything into his interpretation of a series of rollicking numbers, such as "King Solomon Had 10,000 Wives" and "It All Belongs to Me." No energy crisis here . . . If you like to have your dinner at 11 p.m. and enjoy ham and eggs at 3 a.m., don't despair. At Ken's House of Pancakes, in Millbrae (open 24 hours), you can have breakfast, lunch or dinner regardless of how freaky your dining habits are. Of course, pancakes are served, but their menu boasts steaks, chicken, omelettes, chops, chili, prawns, liver and onions and seafood platter. They also have a cozy Hideaway Bar, where Dubbie Doran presides daily, and glamorous lady bartender Kathy Lineham mixes drinks . . . The Rodeway Inn's general manager, Erik Pedersen, makes sure that the best in live entertainment is offered in the plush Golden Rooster Lounge. Entertaining for dancing Tuesdays through Saturdays is Catchfire. On Sunday and Monday nights it's The Formations.

Harness Racing Bay Meadows Attraction

Harness racing, considered to be America's fastest-growing spectator sport, is the current attraction at famed Bay Meadows in San Mateo. The meet, which runs through Sunday, March 3, features the top trotters and pacers in the West, driven by many of the nation's leading drivers. Harness racing Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, as well as Sunday and Monday afternoons. Post time for the evening programs is 7:45 p.m.; Monday afternoon racing begins at 1 p.m. As an added attraction for Sunday afternoon racing, door prizes will be given away, and Senior Citizens are admitted to the Grandstand for only 50 cents.

To and From Job Locations

Transit Plan Aimed at Reducing Car Use

Extension of rail rapid transit through San Mateo County has a number of goals, principally the deletion of reliance on the automobile as the primary means of transportation to and from job locations.

This statement is contained in the summary of the first draft of the final report on the proposed mass transit system for the county submitted to the County Transit Development Project Board of Control Friday in Redwood City.

The firm of PB-T-B-Wilbur Smith-Kirker Chapman, consultants for the project, say that the proposed $775 million program will contribute to economy of transportation and environmental quality, as well as providing a transit system offering mobility, accessibility, reliability, confort and safety.

It is anticipated that nearly nine million persons will be using a rail mass transit system in the county by 1985, if such a system is authorized and implemented.

With proposed fares for a ride on the system ranging from 30 cents to $1.45, depending on the distance traveled, it is anticipated that the system would net more than $11 million a year by 1985, the year in which the system is expected to be fully operational.

Extension of the system south from San Francisco International Airport to Menlo Park (the area encompassed by the study) would be along the Southern Pacific right-of-way.

Although new tracks woul dhave to be laid for the transit system, the Southern Pacific would continue to use its Peninsula facilities for movement of freight.

However, the rapid transit routing would have some variations, with aerial and subway routing proposed.

The extnesion of the rapid transit route form San Francisco International Airport to the Millbrae SP station would be underground.

From Millbrae to just north of Broadway in Burlingame the track would be at grade, but would go underground again to Peninsula Avenue in San Mateo, emerging to ground level to Poplar Avenue, then going aerial to a point south of Ninth Avenue, where it would go back to ground level until 25th Avenue, then rising to aerial to a point south of Hilsdale Boulevard before returning to grade.

The route would remain at grade to Ralston Avenue in Belmont, then switch again to aerial through Belmont, San Carlos and Redwood City to a point just north of Woodside Expressway in the latter community.

Again it would be at ground level to the mid-point between Fair Oaks Lane and Watkins Avenue in Atherton where it would resume an aerial route to Oak Grove Avaenue in Menlo Park, returning to ground level to the terminus at the Santa Clara County line.

New grade separations are planned at three locations in San Mateo (Third, Fourth and Ninth Avenues), in Belmont at Ralston Avenue, south of Redwood City at Fifth Avenue, and in Atherton at Fair Oaks Lane.

The study resulting in the recommendations was mandated by the Metropolitan Transportation Commission. However, the final decision will be up to the voters of San Mateo County at some future date. The first decision the voters will face probably will come in November when they will decide whether to form a transit district to oversee any mass trnasit programs.

The Transit Development Project Board of Control was established under state law to begin studies for a transit system in the county, including a bus feeder system which will provide local inter-city transportation and access to the rail transit system.

Four El Camino Students In Bank Award Program

Now in the running for $1000 cash awards, four graduating seniors from El Camino High School were named last week to represent their school in Bank of America's 1974 Achievement Awards program, Principal Robert Keropian announced.

These students and their study fields are: Steve Otto, science and mathematics; Kathy Kondor, liberal arts; Lisa David, fine arts; Michele Bresso, vocational arts.

The four top-rated seniors received personally engraved plaques and now proceed to the next level of competition, a zone event, to be held March 19 at Green Hills Country Club. There, they will compete with winning seniors from 12 neighboring high schools before a panel of educators and business and community leaders.

Judging is based on group discussion, scholarship, leadership, promise of future success and service to society. Zone winners advance to the regional finals scheduled for late April and May. Second and third place winners in the zone event in each field will receive $100 and $75 respectively.

At the regional finals, the zone winners will compete for top cash awards of $1000 in each study field. Second and third place winners will receive $750 and $500.

DC Center Chief Is Chosen

Mrs. Alice Gonzales Kessler is expected to resign her post with the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commission to accept the job of Community Services Center Supervisor in Daly City's re-opened information and referral facility on Mission Street.

Mrs. Kessler said she will take a cut of some $400 a month in pay to assume the job in Daly City.

City Mgr. David R. Rowe said Wednesday Mrs. Kessler was chosen for the jo from a wide field of applicants.

She accepted the job this week and will begin work at the Center on Feb. 25.

A long-time resident of Daly City, Mrs. Kessler is director of the county's Emergency Food and Medical Services programs.

Long active in community affairs in the county, Mrs. Kessler is presently a member of the Our Lady of Guadalupe Health Clinic Board of Directors, Comprehensive Health Planning Council, and California Council on Criminal Justice, among other organizations and agencies.

Rowe said the center will be in full operation Feb. 25.

The Center had been closed for almost four months after the county cut off funds to it.

Daly City picked up funding using revenue sharing monies, Rowe explained.

Gospel Expert Sets Lecture

Leonard Wallmark, instructor in the New Testament at the Simpson Bible College in San Francisco, will address the Adult Education Class of St. Martin's Episcopal Church, 777 Southgate, Daly City, March 10, at 9:15 a.m.

The class, taught by Ruth Hoppin, is studying John's Gospel.

Wallmark, a native of the Bay Area, studied at Simpson Bible College and Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary. St. John's Gospel is his field of specialization.

All interested persons are invited.

Time to Start Caring for the Lawn

By IVA NEWMAN

A week of warm sunshine and spring pops out all over. Daffodils, azaleas and camellias make the garden resemble a florist shop and we can no longer let the lawn go two weeks between mowings, in fact, it is time to give the lawn its annual spring attention.

Professional turf men state that if seven days have gone by without rain, the sprinklers should be turned on long enough to supply the grass with one-half inch of water twice a week. As the days get longer and warmer, watering should be increased to one-half inch three times a week. If this type of watering is kept up consistently throughout spring, summer and fall, the soil around the roots always will be pleasantly moist. If watering is postponed too long after the rains start letting up a special watering procedure will have to be followed in order to wet the soil down to the root area. This consists of running the sprinklers several times a day for 10 to 15 minute periods until a soil test shows the soil to be moist to a depth of eight or nine inches or more.

Mowing should be a weekly chore from now on. Grass should be mowed frequently enough so that no more than one-half inch of blade is removed at each mowing. Set the cutting blades at the height best suited for the grass being grown. Blades shoud be set to cut two inches high for blue grass, bentgrass, ryegrass and common bermuda at one inch. If you are in doubt about the type of grass you have, it is better to set the mower blades to cut too high than too low. A lawn that is cut too high will make its own shade and keep the roots cool. One that is cut too low will burn durdduuuauuring a hot spell. The The Lawn Institute states that grass mowed tall wears better than low-cut turf.

Be sure the blades on the mower are sharp so they make a clean, smooth cut. Dull blades tear and bruise lawn plants causing them to bleed excessively and this makes the lawn look yellowish and dull. Blades should be cleaned after each mowing. Leaving an accumulation of clippings on the blades will cause them to become rough and rusty. Oiling after each use will keep the mower in good condition for a much longer time.

Weeds

If you managed to get a pre-emergence weed killer on in early January you won't be bothered much by weeds but if you, like us, didn't find any period of time dry long enough for a pre-emergent weed killer, now is an excellent time to stop the weeds before they make the lawn unsightly. Nurseries and garden centers carry a number of weed killers. Just be sure to get one that can be used on a lawn without damaging the grass. Take time to read the label completely before you buy then read it again and follow the directions exactly when you use it. Keep all weed killers out of the reach of small children.

It is too late to use a pre-emergence crab-grass preventer as this must be spread before crabgrass sprouts. Crabgrass seed germinates when the soil temperature reaches about 60 degrees F. Preventers will not be needed in the shade, since crabgrass cannot survive there. Nor will a lawn made dense by proper fertilization bolster seeding. Reasonably high mowing will not let crabgrass have much of a chance.

As weather warms, no fertilizer fits the needs of a lawn better than the tailored slow-release products. Most such lawn foods contain ureaformaldehyde (UF), which must be acted upon by soil organisms to feed out its nitrogen slowly and steadily. Some nitrogen becomes available throughout the season, and a portion may even carry over into the next year.

Because grass growth is exuberant in spring, mowing can be troublesome enough without excessive nitrogen. Mowing problems are aggravated by rainy weather that makes it impossible to keep on a schedule. At times like this the grass needs just enough nitrogen for thrifty growth and good color, and not so much that lankiness results, causing the leaves to topple and mat below mowing height.

Slow Release Fertilizers

UF extends right on into hot weather. Most lawn diseases intensify in summer and lush turf stimulated by too much nitrogen becomes more susceptible to a variety of ills. Although new lawn varieties are resistant to disease, the old-fashioned variety of grasses present in most lawns do have their problems at this time of year. Researchers have found that a lawn dosed with instant rather than slow-release fertilizer is "asking for trouble" in summer. The grass becomes physiologically charged up for a few days, during which time disease makes inroads. Exhaustion then follows as the fertility impact is spent.

Homeowners have long Homeowners from using ryegrass in their lawn plantings because annual ryegrass has such a poor reputation. The annual species is short-lived, coarse and aggressive. Should it carry over into a second season it can become a real pest.

This is not so with the turf-type perennial ryegrasses such as Compas, Manhattan, NK-100, NK-200, Pelo and Pennfine. This attractive new breed looks very much like bluegrass, although no ryegrasses spread by rhizomes as do bluegrass.

Compas was bred in Europe, Manhattan at Rutgers University (from a number of select clones picked up mostly in Central Park, N.Y.), the NK selec- Park, N.Y.), the NK selecing in America. Pelo from Holland, and Pennfine from Pennsylvania State Univesrsity.

Manhattan is unusually low growing and dark-colored. Pennfine delicately textured and mowing more neatly than old fashioned ryegrass. Both are unusually good looking even in solid plantings. Compas, the NK selections and Pelo show good disease tolerance and durability strengths which makes them find special favor in seed mixtures.

Lawngrasses not only look nice, but they can absorb toxic sulfur dioxide and ozone from the air. At the same time they release oxygen, humidify and cool their environment. A well-kept lawn not only adds to the value of a home, but helps to make it a healthier place in which to live.

4-Dimensional Thinking?

Students at San Bruno's Crestmoor High School are studying independent science research projects.

Some of the projects include questions over whether it is possible for humans to think in four dimensions, what part do chemicals play in the regeneration of hydra and how can a complete ecosystem be maintained in spite of water pollution?

The course is designed to provide the time and resources necessary for motivated students to pursue in-depth projects of their own choosing. Participants must be sponsored by one of Crestmoor's science faculty members with the entire science staff serving as resource personnel.

Students enroll for variable lengths of time, depending on the nature of their project and their class schedule. The course is open to all students, regardless of their grade level.

Students are provided with instruction in research techniques, and meet at least every three weeks to discuss the status of their projects and evaluate progress.

Most of the students involved in the research projects are members of Crestmoor's Science Society. Under the direction of faculty sponsor Colvin Person, a physics instructor, the student's best projects are selected each year for entry in the annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair.

Crestmoor science students have competed in the fair since 1967. Last year, the grand prize was awarded to Mike Deering, now a Crestmoor senior. Deering's winning project involved computer-mathematics on the fourth dimension.

SCIENCE RESEARCH — Crestmoor High School Senior Greg Phillips explains his prize-winning study of the ecosystem of Crestmoor Canyon to chemistry instructor Frank Chambers.

County Officials Get Salary Increases

County Manager M. D. Tarshes was awarded a six per cent pay increase Wednesday by the Board of Supervisors, bringing his annual sesalary to $46,920.

Tarshes was included in salary and benefit increases approved Wednesday by the board for 62 persons in management and confidential employe classification, another 700 employes represented by local 715 of the Service Employes International Union (SEIU) and employes represented by the Professional Engineers Group.

The salary and benefits increases are retroactive to Jan. 1.

For management personnel, fringe benefits include county payment up to $15 a month for a dental plan for employes and their dependnts, additional hospital plan coverage on a new hospital plan to include convalescent care, an increase in the monthly salary covered by a long-term disability insurance plan to amonthly salary of $2,220, and permitting a spouse to use unused sick leave credits for payment of medical insurance after death of an employe.

Six per cent salary increases also were approved for employes represented by SEIU and by Professional Engineers Group.

In both latter categories, the on-call pay was increased from 34 cents an hour to 75 cents, the county contribution to the employe dental plan was increased from $9 to $12 a month, and pro-rata increases were approved for health and hospitalization plans.

In the salary increases approved for management personnel, County Health and Welfare Director Dr. George Pickett will remain the second highest paid county official, with a salary of $44,352 a year.

Two of the Health and Welfare Department officials are not far behind.

Dr. Howard Gurevitz, assistant to Pickett, and Dr. John S. Visher, program chief for the Mental Health Services Division of the Health and Welfare Department, each will receive $37,992 a year.

Salaries for other top county (non-elective) officials:

County Engineer S. H. Cantwell Jr., County Director of Building Construction and General Services Henry P. Tarratt, and Superintendent of Health Division, County Health and Welfare Department Dr. James M. Bodie, $35,952.

Assistant County Managers Earl Y. Goodwin and A. R. Middaugh, Chief Deputy District Attorneys L. M. Summey, $32,652.

Chief Probation Officer Loren A. Beckley, $32,148.

County Planning Director Donald A. Woolfe, County Parks and Recreation Director John T. Brook Jr., County Personnel Director Richard T. Kennedy, $29,400.

Assistant Sheriffs Eugene E. Stewart and Macdonald U. Craik, $27,480.

County Information Officer Alice Holmes, $20,364.

School Press Contest

Student Journalists Are Awarded

Aspiring young journalists, from middle school through college, were guests at an awards luncheon Wednesday at Russo's Distillery in San Bruno.

The youths were the winners of a school newspaper contest co-sponsored by the San Mateo Times and the San Bruno Tanforan Shopping Center.

Guest speaker at the event was Congressman Leo Ryan, who criticized the press for writing "distorted" stories that "lead to disrespect and cynicism of the political world."

"I plead with you as new members (of the press) to exercise some degree of judgment in the manner of reporting," said Ryan.

Don Frate, promotion manager of the Tanforan Shopping Center, presented the awards.

Colleges winning general excellence awards were Skyline, first; Canada, second, and College of San Mateo, third.

Other college awards follow:

Best news story: Terry VauDell, Canada College; Robert Cooper, Canada College; and Nancy McDonald, Skyline College.

Editorial or opinion: Terry La Porte, Skyline College; Jenny Tripp , Skyline College; and Rick Kushman, College of San Mateo.

Best feature story: Robert Cooper, Canada College; Terry VauDell, Canada College; and Christos Galatsianos, College of San Mateo.

Best sports story: David Taxier, Skyline College; Russ Hughes, Skyline College; Brian McGrath, Canada College.

Best photography: Joe Mateo, first and second; and Tonya Houg, Slyline College.

High school general excellence awards were presented to Serra High School, first; Mills High School, second; and San Mateo High School, third.

Other high school awards follow:

Best news story: Trudy Martin, Mills; Janis Lipton, Serramonte; Tom Rosenstiel, Ravenswood.

Editorial or opinion: David Finacom and Trudy Martin, Mills; Lyn Antonov, San Carlos; and Larry Jones, Serra.

Best feature story: Haward Edelstein, San Carlos; Dennice Riewerts, Terra Nova; and Sally Santos, Crestmoor.

Best sports story: Mike Barnett, San Carlos; Bruce Kelley, Ravenswood; and Doug Hansen, Terra Nova.

Best photography: Robert DeMarco, Crestmoor; Ed Nelson, Capuchino; and Barry Bettman, Mills.

Middle school general excellence awards were presented to John F. Kennedy, Redwood City, first; Fairmont, second; and Fernando Rivera, third.

College Trustees To Be Paid

The trustees of the San Mateo Community College District Wednesday voted themselves a modest salary.

The vote on the measure was 4-0. Trustee Francis Pearson abstained.

According to the recommendation prepared by the district's chancellor, Glenn Smith, the trustees will be paid $30 per meeting to a maximum of $200 per month.

There were differences of opinion from board members about this issue.

Pearson, for one, said he felt trustees should not be paid, that public service of this kind ought to be contributory. He added that, if the district does pay its trustees, they ought to have the option of either receiving the money or not. It should not be mandatory, he said.

Other board members weren't sure.

James Tormey said he favored compensation because, he said, many people could not afford to serve on such a board without it.

Robert Tarver, Eleanore Nettle and Carl Ward all agreed with that argument.

Ward, however, told his fellows that, "You don't have to draw the salary if you don't want to."

Mrs. Nettle pointed out that members of the San Mateo County Board of Education already receive compensation for meetings. So do boards in San Francisco and Los Angeles, she stated.

The community college district trustees were able to grant themselves pay because of recent state legislation permitting such an action. The rate of compensation is based on the size of the district.

KYA Coming to Serramonte

The KYA Radio Oneders will make their fourth appearance at Serramonte High School to challenge the faculty to a basketball game tonight at 7:30 in the school gym.

Tickets, priced at 1.25 with student body cards, are available at the door.

THE POST'S SPORTS

Le Pacini

Play-by-Play

When one views a Milt Kahn for a few weeks, it makes one more appreciate a Barry Tompkins — whatever that was.

And when one listens to ANY other play-by-play basketball announcer, it makes one more appreciate the Warriors' Bill King — who is certainly and easily the best play-by-play basketball announcer in the world.

If you don't believe us — and there's no reason why you shouldn't — the next time the Warriors play on TV, turn the sound off (although Lon Simmons is one of the better ones, himself) and tune in to King's radio report. Not only is King fast (he could have rivaled Garry Moore when Moore used to read complete fairy tales in one minute) and accurate, but he knows basketball strategy as well as many players (he often accurately anticipates game strategy), and the rules better than most NBA officials (he usually calls the correct fouls before they do.)

King is also his own color man. Working alone, he slips in more anecdotes, pieces of miscellaneous information and statistical data while somebody is inbouding a ball, than most color commentators can whose only responsibility is color. And in the meantime, King never misses a beat on the play-by-play.

He also reads commercials and does halftime interviews which are always interesting because the basketball people he talks to give him intelligent answers based on intelligent questions, and because they respect King's knowledge, thus treat him almost like one of them.

PERHAPS MOST important of all, King is probably the fairest play-by-play man in the business. When a Warrior goofs, he tells you (and often tells you why), and when an opponent does something well, he extols him honestly, rather than sloughing it off or implying that it may have been lucky, such as a certain East Bay baseball announcer is known to do. And if an official makes a bad call in favor of the Warriors, he is just as apt to let you know about it as he is if the call went against them.

King is also an excellent football play-by-play man, and when he was third man on the Giants' crew, he acquitted himself ably in baseball, as well.

But it is at basketball where King is unsurpassed, because he does it excellently, and he does it all.

If there is one flaw in his basketball work habits, it is that he apparently hasn't devised a way to leave himself time to go to the bathroom.

But then, maybe he's exceptionally quick in that area, too.

YOU MAY REMEMBER that a few columns ago we suggested that some statistical distortions might be eliminated from pro basketball if all stats were computed on the basis of 48 minute increments, or the equivalent of a full basketall game, rather than on just "per game" figures, which offer no method of delineating between the man who plays 40 minutes a game and the one who plays four minutes a game. We admitted that certain distortions could appear with that method as well, but perhaps not as many. No matter what your opinion on the merits of the two methods, however, you may at least find our method interesting. Following is how the most recently released Warrior statistics would appear in rebounding, assists and points per game if our method were used:

	Rebounds	Assists	Pts.
Barry	8.8	7.9	31.8
Russell	7.5	3.9	31.5
Mullins	5.6	6.1	23.0
Thurmond	17.0	3.1	15.6
Barnett	6.0	5.7	25.8
Beard	4.7	6.3	16.8
C. Johnson	8.0	4.0	19.7
Lee	18.0	.6	9.7
Dickey	17.8	2.9	14.3
G. Johnson	19.4	3.1	15.5
Ellis	11.3	3.6	12.1

As we said, distortions can appear in this method, as well, nor does this take into account things like defense, or other niceties of the game. But then, neither does the straight "per game" technique.

The above list pretty much speaks for itself, so there is no need for us to do an analysis of it, but there were a couple of surprises — the rebounding and scoring of "tiny" Charley Johnson, and the scoring of Jim Barnett.

While we were in the statistics-gathering mood, we investigated another area of utatistical analysis which we have never seen published — the combined shooting accuracy of both field goals and free throws. We came up with a surprise in that one, too. If we are to believe that by combining the shooting and making of both field goals and free throws we will find the most accurate all-around shooters, then we must believe that rookie Derrek Dickey is the best shooter among the Warriors.

Dickey, who is making 48.5 per cent of his shots from the field and 79.3 of his free throws, combines for a percentage of 55.5. He is followed by Cassie Russell (54.3), Rick Barry (54.2) and Jeff Mullins (53.3).

ASIDE FROM SUCH statistical quirks, however, there are really few surprises in pro basketball. A Clyde Lee, for example, could never be expected to make, say, 35 points in a single game, because basketball being the team game it is, nobody would give him the ball that often to shoot.

That's why baseball continues to be our favorite pro sport. It's a team game, but yet so much depends on individual skills and perseverence. Thus, while it would be virtually impossible for Lee to score 30, shortstops with lifetime batting averages of .225 have been known to suddenly explode for two or three homeruns in a single game.

BACK TO STATISTICS, and for what it's worth, there are well over 20 NBA players averaging 20 or more points per game, but only six players doing it in the ABA. And whatever happened to that theory that new (or relatively new) pro leagues are always overbalanced on the offensive side?

UPSET NOT UPSETTING

Regents Make The Playoffs

By JERRY LITTRELL
Post Correspondent

Serramonte High actually won its North Peninsula League Shaughnessy Playoff spot by one point two weeks ago, and didn't even know it.

That's when the Regents upset El Camino 45-44, defeating a team higher than itself in the final standings.

So despite Friday's shocking 45-44 loss to cellar-dwelling Half Moon Bay, a loss which tied the Regents with South San Francisco for fourth place, Serramonte was granted the final playoff position.

The Warriors never defeated anyone above them in the standings.

Things remained fairly static for the other three playoff teams. Westmoor lambasted Oceana 73-47 to complete the first 14-0 conference season in NPL history, El Camino outran South S.F. 68-57, and Terra Nova whaled all over Jefferson 83-62.

The Shaughnessy playoffs began at Skyline College last night at 8:30 with league champion Westmoor going against Serramonte.

Thursday at Skyline El Camino plays Terra Nova, a team the Colts lost to by one, and defeated by 37. Winners of both games will play Saturday with the final game, if needed, scheduled for a week from Tuesday.

HMB 45, Regents 44

Leading almost the entire distance, and up by five with 0:30 to go, HBM had to go to its circus trick bag to pull its second win of the season out of the hat.

Serramonte had trimmed the game-long lead down until Jerome Williams intercepted a HMB pass with 0:10 left and fired through a bucket with 0:04 remaining, giving the Regents a 44-43 lead.

HMB called time out with 0:02 left, a court-length away form their bucket. After a hasty but intense mental evaluation, Cougar coach Chuck Short decided Tom Canadas would throw the ball to Joe Jesse, who would try to pass it off for a layin.

Candas threw the ball to Jesse, who upon pirouetting, found everyone covered, rose in the air and threw a 32-footer that left his hand as the buzzer went off. An eternity later it swished.

Leading Serramonte scorer Pete Jurand was nursing a swollen ankle, and did not play. His status for Tuesday's playoff game is doubtful.

El Camino 68, SSF 57

The Warriors, who had to win to get a playoff spot, didn't have enough offensive thrust against El Camino, the team many believe will battle Westmoor for the CCS berth.

Camino continually worked the ball in to center Steve Kennedy, and when the 6-5 senior wasn't scoring two of his 19 points, the rest of the Colts were vacuum cleaners on the offensive boards, putting back return shots which built up as much as a 12-point lead before halftime.

The Warriors' best effort came in the third period when they closed to 49-46 on Rolfe Athearn's layin. But EC's John Christman blocked two consecutive layins, the Warriors missed two others without any help, and could only get within three one more time, with a little over a minute remaining.

The Colts outscored SSF 10-2 in the last 90 seconds.

Terra Nova 83, Jeff 62

Terra Nova had the advantage of playing in the afternoon and wasn't about to let anybody get close enough to take their playoff spot away. The 21-point win could have been greater.

The closest Jeff could get was early in the game, 18-11, but Terra Nova ran off six more points, putting the game out of reach before halftime.

Bob Downing, Todd McClure and Pete Wathen combined for 57 points.

Westmoor 73, Oceana 47

Westmoor shot ahead 36-10 in the second period and was never headed. Ted Scott and Maurice Pittman each put through eight buckets as the Rams prepped for their Tuesday meeting with the Regents, a team they have beaten twice in league competition.

A Smashing Opener

LOW BRIDGE — College of San Mateo's Bruce Davidson took the low road underneath Fresno catcher Steve Gorthy in the first game of the CSM Tournament Friday; it was CSM's season opener. The Bulldogs, defending State finalists, pulled out a 5-4 win.

Skyline College Looks Tough

First, the good news. Skyline College's baseball team will probably be potent at the plate again, though a couple of big sluggers have graduated.

Now, more good news — it's possible the Trojans' bane last year, ineffective pitching, is a thing of the past. This year's staff could be as solid as any Skyline's had.

What, no bad news? Possibly, but at this point in the season it's hard to say.

The Trojans have two veteran hurlers — Jeff Howard from Mills and Jim Raymond from Crestmoor — and a veteran backup in soph Frank Weber from Burlingame.

Thursday freshman fastballer Gary Hart from Mills looked sharp, going eight innings in a 5-2 win over DeAnza.

Skyline will miss the big bats of the departed Gary Armstrong and Pat Tolentino, but there should be plenty of power left.

Freshman outfielder Rich Wright from El Camino was the home run king of the North Peninsula League last year, and freshman Pete Ayers from Oceana, who'll battle soph Bob Trask from the second base spot, hit over .400 last season as a prep. He's also the fastest man on the team.

Soph outfielder Steve Javier hit .323 last year, and veteran slugger Jim Romero (who had two doubles in Thursday's game) returns at first base.

The catcher's spot is up for grabs. Soph Steve Ballas will battle for the job with Reid Gotthardt, a good hitter who played infield at Serra last year.

Among the other top freshmen are Steve Humphrey from Terra Nova, who's been showing up well at the plate; utility man Ralph Sands from Serramonte and shortstop Doug Morganti from Oceana (who's been battling back from a back injury).

Skyline's hitting has been spotty through two scrimmages and a 2-2 practice mark so far, but that means little at this point in the season.

The Trojans will have a lot of tiring traveling to do in their new league, the Coast Conference — like to Salinas and Monterey — but could also easily improve on last year's under .500 record.

Canada College has seven returnees but a lot of question marks.

The Colts' strength lies in their infield; vet Terry Freethy, from Burlingame, who sat out last year but hit .300 two seasons ago, returns at third and soph Ralph Gage (3.06 last year) again mans first.

Canada may have trouble at catcher, but three decent hurlers return — Robert Starks (5-5, 1.96 ERA), James Starks (3-1, 1.86) and Tom Vignau (4-2, 2.26). Robert Starks was also All-Camino Norte Conference in the outfield. He boasted a .302 average, with six homers.

There are still holes to be filled and questions to be answered, and at the moment coach Lyman Ashley isn't sure how he's going to answer them.

St. Andrew's 'A' Takes First

In the Eighth Grade Boys Basketball League, sponsored by Daly City Recreation Department, St. Andrew's "A" team moved into sole possession of first place with a 50-20 crushing of OLPH.

Mark Navarro and Benjie Parido led the way to victory with 15 and 11 points respectively. Holy Angels, behind Mark Pretti's 17 points, squeaked out a victory over Hunts by a score of 40-33. OLM broke into the win column by downing St. Andrew's "B" 46-24. Carl Spirz and Dan Cunnie were the high-point men with 15 and 10 points respectively.

Chris Vlahos and Tim Tiernan both scored 8 points each to lead in the St. Thomas More Saints to their first victory in two years with a 30-19 triumph over OLM Chargers. LBYA moved into sole possession of second place in the Eighth Grade Eastern Division by outlasting the OLM Red Shoes 45-33. Shawn Wallace led the attack with 17 points while Gibby Anderson bagged 12 for LBYA.

In the battle of the "Undefeated," in the Sixth Grade Eastern Division, OLM defeated SAL 25-20. St. Thomas More outscored St. Andrew's 33-18 and PAL Bullets broke into the win column with a 39-8 triumph over Holy Angels.

In the Sixth Grade Northern Division Playoffs, St. Andrews defeated Holy Angels 37-20 to go into the final day with an unblemished mark. PAL remained on St. Andrews' heels with a 38-30 triumph over OLM behind the 10-point scoring of Steve Casselli.

In the Western Division Playoffs, St. Andrew's Blues fought the PAL Jets to a 23-21 victory. OLM Reds defeated the other St. Andrew's team 42-47.

LBYA kept hold of its first place spot in the Fifth Grade Eastern Division with a 25-24 triumph over St. Andrew's Greys. Bobby Gay tallied 8 for LBYA while Clay Regan hit 13 for St. Andrew's.

In the Fourth Grade Northern Division, St. Andrew's Scots remained in first place by edging OLPH 19-17, while OLM defeated SAL 17-9.

In the Fourth Grade Eastern Division, OLM remained in sole possession of second place with a 20-0 whitewashing of St. Thomas More "Saints 32." Time Loyd led the victors with 6 points. OLPH defeated SAL 14-7 behind Moliri's 4 points.

In the Fourth Grade Western Division, SAL Devils defeated St. Andrew's 18-11 to go into a 2-way tie for first place with the Scots. Larry Gaimes was the big gun for the Devils with 10 points. In a real see-saw battle, OLM defeated LBYA 8-7. St. Thomas More Saints upset PAL Tigers 21-10 behind the two-man "wrecking crew" of Greg Barulich and Mike Erle.

Pads Top Mitty, Harnett Shines

By MARK JOHNSON
Post Correspondent

Serra High's Buzz Harnett has all systems at go just in time for the upcoming West Catholic Athletic League playoffs.

Harnett (6-6) banged in 25 points to cap a standout week as the Padres felled Mitty, 86-74, in a rare WCAL scoring orgy Friday night in San Mateo.

Serra wound up with an 8-4 league record and will play round robin champ Riordan in the first round of the playoffs at USF next Wednesday night.

Harnett has 42 points in his last two games, 33 rebounds and ten blocked shots.

"Buzz and Ron (Jackson, a starting forward) have progressed well since they missed a game a while back with injuries," said Padre coach Pete Newell. "They're both coming on strong now."

Jackson finished with 16 points, giving him 31 for the week. His ten points in the first quarter against Mitty pushed Serra into a lead that was never lost.

Mitty kept close at the line, where the Monarchs went 30-44 over-all and 18-22 in the first half. The Padres could only take control completely in the last quarter, when they built their lead to a high of 16.

Newell, who used his bench freely the entire game in preparation for the playoffs, liked the efforts of juniors Joe Ned and John Caselli in addition to Harnett and Jackson.

"They've both been in little slumps lately," said Newell, "but they seemed to snap out in this one." Caselli had 11 points and Ned ten.

Serra went 35-61 from the floor (57 per cent) in its best offensive showing of the season. Harnett was 9-14.

"We were hurt by some letdowns and lack of consistency during the league season," added Newell, "But I think we're at the threshold of getting it all back now."

Serra Steels for Rematch

Call it a ghost, a goblin, a psychological demon.

It first haunted Serra High's basketball team in last year's West Catholic Athletic League playoffs.

Serra coach Pete Newell's in his first year, so he wasn't party to the nightmare. But he knows his Padres have to be mentally ready to beat the demon — alias Riordan.

Last year Serra was WCAL champion and Riordan needed to beat the Padres twice to get to the CCS playoffs. Riordan won twice.

This season, playing with some veterans of last year's CCS championship team, Riordan beat Serra twice more — and three of the Serra starters, veterans all, had bad memories reinforced.

Tonight Serra meets Riordan in the opening round of this year's playoffs. Game time is approximately 9 p.m. at USF gym in San Francisco, following the 7 p.m. opener between the other two contenders, St. Francis and St. Ignatius.

Things are much the same as before — only this year Riordan is the round robin winner, and must be beaten twice. Can it be done?

Says Newell, "I know we're physically capable of beating Riordan. We have to prove we're psychologically capable of doing it. It's up to us to take it to them.

"Defense will be the key in this one. Defense is a challenge, and there's no bigger challenge than trying to beat a team that's already beaten you twice."

Riordan's key men are three-year starter Greg Bond, 5-7 speedster-guard Alton Byrd and 6-5 possible WCAL MVP Elmer Love.

A trio of Serra stars — center Buzz Harnett, forward Ron Jackson and guard John Caselli — are just now getting back into form after suffering from annoying injuries.

Caselli should match up with Bond, Jackson with Love and Harnett with Riordan center Wayne Miller. Jim Doherty will probably draw defensive duty on Byrd.

"Jackson and Harnett are fully recovered; there's been a steady improvement in the past three games," says Newell. "Caselli will play his first game without the mask (Caselli has worn it to protect a broken nose). That will help his over-all play — especially his shooting.

"We're definitely at a peak offensively, but we could be playing better defense. We need a complete defensive effort against Riordan."

A win seems possible. Riordan won the second game between the two this season, in San Francisco, 63-42. It was a wipe out. But in the first game Serra actually had held a 16-point lead in the first half before dribbling away a 57-52 loss.

Millbrae Hosts AAU

Millbrae will host the Pacifica Association AAU-Junior Olympic Championships July 14-15 this year — after Reno had hosted the major athletic event for 24 years.

Some 1000 to 1500 contestants are expected to converge on Mills High School.

The Millbrae Lions Track Club will host the meet, and Ed Parker, Mills High School track coach, will be the meet director.

JESD Candidate Stresses Basic Skills in Schools

"In considering fundamentals, it is apparent that a foundation of basic skills is necessary for a productive life," said Al Schwarzbach, Jefferson Elementary School District Board candidate, in a statement released this week.

Alvin Schwarzbach

"From necessity, this preparation must begin in the elementary schools. We must take every opportunity to assure the availability of such a start," he continued.

"This can only be realized by the joint and cooperative effort of teachers, administrators, parents and Board of Trustees working together and will be of major concern to me," he said.

Schwarzbach, assistant vice president Crocker National Bank, is a graduate of Purdue University and holds a degree in civil engineering. He holds P-TA memberships in a number of schools and is a member of the Friends of the Daly City library.

Schumacher Raps Council On BART

According to City Council candidate Bill Schumacher, BART predicted a need for 1600 spaces at the Daly City BART station, and told the City Council as early as 1965.

"Why, then, did the City Council let BART build only 777 spaces, less than half the required number?" he asked.

"BART officials have been in contact with the city for the past 10 years, and have made their study information available to the council.

"In 1968, the council met with BART, and requir31ed 1000 parking spaces. However, when the agreement between BART and Daly City was signed, in February, 1970, no mention was made of parking spaces required. Why?"

Schumacher says the City Council was also remiss in not up-grading the Northgate bus system.

"BART parking was projected based on an adequate feeder bus system," he said. "Yet, the council made no move on bus transit, further compounding the BART parking mess."

Crime Unit in Daly City

officers sandwich in residential security checks.

These security checks consist of offering group presentations on how to prevent burglaries by pointing up advantages of various locking devices; what to do when you are on vacation; day and night precautions; and identifying property by special markings.

An officer will, on request, visit homes and offer suggestions on door and window locks.

He will also acquaint homeowners with "Operation Identification" in which possessions can be engraved with a person's driver's license number for easy identification.

This program has dramatically cut down burglaries in many areas throughout the nation, police say.

But the success of the North San Mateo County Crime Prevention Unit depends much on the response of citizens.

A recent crime analysis that the unit conducted disclosed that in the four cities covered more than 25 per centof all reported burglaries were successfully carried out because someone simply forgot to lock a door or window.

To help police beat the burglar to your home, call 992-4500 (ext. 253) for a free inspection by the "experts."
